Business Today

By Paul Gesner And John Beckley

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—(News-Star Special News Service)—Better start driving the old golf ball a little straighter!

When you slice with the number two iron, better comb the rough, for there will be fewer new balls next year.

Golf clubs and other sporting equipment also are among items upon which production is being curtailed to free materials for national defense.

In talking about the everyday goods of which there will be smaller supplies on store counters, the OPM chiefs generally speak only of the obvious big items on which production is slowing—such things as passenger automobiles, trucks, buses, auto accessories, aluminum utensils, electric refrigerators, washing machines, vacuum cleaners, radios, ranges, stokers, water heaters, stoves, furnaces, oil burners, auto tires and tubes, silk hosiery and apparel, and hardware.

Dozens of small things, too, are to be produced in less volume.

Among household items, production is being curtailed in picture frames, incandescent lamps, flashlights, clocks, toasters, ironing machines, meat roasters, coffee percolators, waffle irons, heating pads, heaters and radiators, hot plates and grills, dish washer parts, food mixers and air conditioners.

As in World war I, defense requirements may create auto radiator problems.

Output is being reduced on antifreeze radiator solutions.

Remember back in 1918 when wood alcohol, the winter radiator solution of those days, went up out of signt in price?

Remember draining the radiator every night, and filling 'er up with hot water from the tea kettle mornings?

Dealers insist, however, that with good distribution, there can be enough winter radiator fluid for everyone, despite output curtailment. Reason: Extremely mild weather in the east last winter left huge surplus supplies in wholesalers' hands.

Note to business men: Make old office equipment last as long as you can! With defense taking materials, there must of necessity be a reduc-

SHIPBUILDING CONTRACTS LET

Construction Program To Cost $1,246,650,000 Gets Under Way

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—(AP)—The maritime commission put a new $1,246,650,000 shipbuilding program under way today by negotiating for 23 additional ways in existing yards and contracts for 66 "C" design cargo ships.

It acted following the signing by the president of an appropriation bill carrying $698,650,000 cash and authorization for later appropriations of $1,000,000,000. The new program calls for a total of 566 ships.

This will bring the commission's total program to 1,276 ships, of which 100 have been completed.

Additional ways, together with the necessary shops, equipment and machinery which are estimated to cost an average of $1,000,000 per way, which have been allocated include:

Alabama Shipbuilding and Dry Dock company, Mobile, eight.

Ingalls Shipbuilding company, Pascagoula, Miss., two.

Delta Shipbuilding company, New Orleans, two.

The commission said expansion of other yards would be authorized as rapidly as practicable. It is thought about 48 ways, including those allocated today, will be constructed to handle the new program.

Also, the commission announced it had entered into agreement for the construction of 66 commission-designed "C" type vessels including:

Gulf Shipbuilding corporation, Chickasaw, near Mobile, 16 C-2 type.

Ingalls Shipbuilding corporation, Pascagoula, ten C-3 type.

WASHINGTON SOLON HAS HEART ATTACK

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—(AP)—Representative Smith, Democrat, Connecticut, was stricken with a mild heart attack today in an army bomber in which he had started for a third time on an inspection trip. The plane returned to Bolling field and Smith was treated at the army infirmary.

Attending physicians notified aides of the congressman that the attack was not serious, but that they had advised against any attempt by Smith to fly for the rest of the day.

Smith and Representative Durham, Democrat, North Carolina, members of a House military affairs subcommittee investigating army personnel and material were bound for Moline, Ill., where they were to have met another committee member, Representative Martin, Republican, Iowa.

Later Durham decided to continue on the trip without Smith.

MIAMI SWELTERING

MIAMI, Fla., Aug. 26.—(AP)—Residents of Miami are sweltering in an August heat wave. The mercury has hit 90 or higher on 15 days. The mean reading for the first 25 days of the month was 84.8 degrees—a degree higher than the mean record of August, 1897. August rainfall so far totals .28 inches, against an August average of 6.17 inches.

2 DIE, 50 HURT AS STORM HITS IN NEW JERSEY

Many Left Homeless, Property Damage Heavy In Several Cities

RAKES KANSAS CITY

Thousands Of Fire Calls Received As Breaks In Wires Occur

(By Associated Press)

Windstorms that tore off roofs in New Jersey, snarled Kansas City traffic and whipped street-flooding rains through West Virginia wore themselves out today, leaving a toll of at least two dead, 50 injured and scores of homeless.

Roofless and sideless houses stood as grim evidence of the storm's fury in New Jersey. The freak blow struck yesterday in scattered sections of the state.

Sections of Delaware and Pennsylvania suffered high winds also. Heavy rains that accompanied the wind sent property damage soaring.

In Kansas City, yesterday's wind approached hurricane force. Traffic was paralyzed for nearly an hour. Three huge radio towers crashed onto a house. A nearby emergency tower fell. The broadcasting mast of station KCKN fell into a downtown Kansas City street. The spire of the First Presbyterian church toppled.

Charleston, W. Va., streets were flooded by a blowing rain.

George Hemple, a milkman, was killed in Swedesboro, N. J., when a canning plant smokestack tumbled on his truck.

David Pinder of Jersey City, was electrocuted when he attempted to repair a wind buffeted electric crane. Scores were injured in vicinity of Woodbridge and Swedesboro in New Jersey.

The winds abated over a northeasterly course today.

NEW JERSEY HIT HEAVILY BY STORM

NEWARK, N. J., Aug. 26.—(AP)—Houses without roofs or sides and bare foundations stood today as grim evidence of a freak storm that struck swiftly in scattered parts of New Jersey to leave a toll of two dead, about 50 injured and many homeless.

Sections of Delaware and Pennsylvania also suffered yesterday from high winds and heavy rains to send property damage mounting. Charleston, W. Va., reported its heaviest rain of the year with streets and cellars flooded.

Woodbridge, 16 miles south of here, and Swedesboro, 17 miles southwest of Camden, felt the brunt of the cyclonic wind attack that whirled

DeRidder Waitress Puzzled When Army Private Asks For One

WITH THE THIRD ARMY IN LOUISIANA, Aug. 26.—(AP)—While passing through DeRidder, La., en route to the bivouac area, Private Marty Kalan, Cincinnati, O., 147th infantry band, 37th division, stopped with several other soldiers in a restaurant for lunch. Private Kalan was having some difficulty in picking out what he wanted. Finally, he put down his menu.

"Lady," he told the waitress, "you haven't got listed what I want."

"Maybe we have it anyway," answered the girl. "What is it you want?"

"What I really want," said Kalan, "is a furlough. Do you have one?"

A puzzled frown crossed the waitress's face. "I'll see if we have any," she said.

She returned several minutes later. "I'm sorry," she apologized, "but we are all out of furloughs. We served our last one just before you came in."

"Yeah," said Kalan, "that's what the colonel said."

A DeRidder farmer with a complaint to register, registered it with Captain Marion F. Rattermann, Cincinnati, O., commanding officer of headquarters company, special troops, 37th division.

"This darn army," said the farmer,

GETS UNEXPECTED PARACHUTE THRILL

FORT BENNING, Ga., Aug. 26.—(AP)—A five-man sub-committee of the house military affairs committee, watching a jumping demonstration of parachute troops at Fort Benning, got an unscheduled thrill.

Private Benjamin F. Mourey, 22, of Bloomsburg, Pa., making his fifth and qualifying jump, left a plane at 1,200 feet. His back parachute failed to open and he plummeted 800 feet before he could open his emergency 'chute and float to a perfect landing.

Shortly afterwards, Representative R. E. Thomason, Democrat, Texas, presented Mourey a silver badge as a qualified parachutist and congratulated him for his presence of mind.

ARMY WEAPON SHORTAGE IS LESS EVIDENT

Many Tanks And Planes Added To Equipment Since Last Year

By Rex Ingraham

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—(AP)—There still will be plenty of makeshift weapons in evidence during the army's forthcoming Louisiana maneuvers but not nearly so many as figured in last year's war games.

Although the war department readily conceded today that shortages continue in the army's supply of modern weapons, it is keeping mum as to the specific categories and numbers.

"While it may be generally known that we lack certain munitions," one official explained, "foreign agents don't have an official check on such reports until the war department puts out the information. We don't intend to hand them any such check."

From the fact that the navy and marine corps are planning to lend the army some of their dive bombers to cooperate with the armored ground forces, it is clear that is one category in which the army is deficient.

It seems likely, however, that the citizen-soldiers will not have to carry make-believe to the extent of last year when they were forced to hang signs bearing the word "tank" on light trucks to simulate armored vehicles—because the production of both light and medium tanks has materially increased in the last few months.

At a recent press conference, Secretary Stimson told newsmen that at previous maneuvers, the lack of planes had made the show "a little like Hamlet without the main character." In the maneuvers this fall, however, he said "we'll be able to stage a real practice in what we've been reading about the foreign armies."

Testimony of war department officials in recent congressional hearings disclosed that there were shortages of the new 105 millimeter howitzers, but in some cases modernized 75s were substituted for that weapon so that the troops would at least have real artillery for training.

A few weeks ago, the department

V. F. W. TO PARADE IN PHILADELPHIA

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 26.—(AP)—The Veterans of Foreign Wars national encampment set aside most of today to give Philadelphia its biggest military parade after hearing a plea from Undersecretary of War Robert P. Patterson for better civilian morale.

Approximately 40,000 veterans and members of the V. F. W. auxiliary and some 35,000 others were to march in the big show which was expected to take eight hours starting at noon to pass the reviewing stand. Offici expected 250 bands along with detachments of police, army, navy and marines.

Climaxing convention opening activities, Patterson last night called on all Americans to wake up "from the daydream that in donating a leaky percolator to the government we have done our bit for our country."

"We will begin to develop a national morale," he said, "when we begin to appreciate the fact that our national existence is menaced and that we must pay a stiff price in money and comfort, if in nothing else, to assure its safety. Once we have established national civilian morale, the problem of soldier morale will have cared for itself."

Urging more sacrifices, Patterson declared, "We cannot put Hitler behind the eight points until we roll up our sleeves and tighten our belts, until labor and capital see this emergency as something more than a grab-bag of higher wages and greater profits * * *."

PIPELINE WILL RELIEVE EAST'S OIL EMERGENCY

Completion Of 1,200-Mile Line From Louisiana Set For December

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—(AP)—Ralph K. Davies, acting petroleum coordinator, said today exercise of eminent domain in acquiring rights-of-way for the Plantation pipeline, was expected to permit completion of the 1,200-mile line in December and materially ease the oil emergency in the east.

The conduit will run from Louisiana into North Carolina.

Davies said it not only would relieve the oil emergency in the south Atlantic states but would release 10 or 12 ship tankers normally supplying that area, making them available for service to the north Atlantic states—thus also relieving the situation there. Already under way, the line begins at Baton Rouge and runs northeasterly through Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia, South Carolina and into North Carolina to the vicinity of Greensboro. Its route traverses the environs of Birmingham, Montgomery, Chattanooga, Knoxville, Atlanta, Macon and Charlotte.

Also in the territory to be served are many army posts, including: Georgia—Camp Stewart, Savannah air base and Fort Screven; North Carolina—Camp Davis, Fort Bragg and Pope field; and South Carolina—Camp Croft and Fort Moultrie.

The project is designed to deliver 60,000 to 90,000 barrels of petroleum products such as gasoline, kerosene, naphtha and diesel oil.

Progress of construction had been delayed by difficulties in obtaining necessary land. The sponsoring corporation, financed by several oil companies, asked the coordinator's aid in getting the right-of-way and this was made possible under authority of the Cole act which became effective July 30. A presidential proclamation authorizing exercise of eminent domain was the first action under the act.

Davies gave the detailed route of the Plantation line as follows:

Baton Rouge, La., to Meridian, Miss., 195 miles; Moundville, Ala., 82 miles; to Helena, Ala., 53 miles.

From Helena, there are branches to Birmingham, 13 miles; and to Montgomery, 71 miles.

The line then extends to Oxford,

Army Officers Want War Games Taken Seriously

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is another of a series of "behind the scenes" articles on the Louisiana maneuvers. The stories were gained from personal interviews with soldiers, and observations of the writer during a tour of the maneuver area from the quartermaster's base to the "battle line" near Camp Polk.)

By George V. Lofton

"Yes, you're always taking trips and we have to stay at home. It looks like you could take us along on some of these vacation jaunts you're always making around the country."

That's what the Little Woman said to the gentleman who is sometimes facetiously referred to as the head of the family as he departed for the Louisiana maneuvers.

And that's the attitude of thousands of civilians and even soldiers as the "Reds" and the "Blues" engage in mock warfare over half of Louisiana and Arkansas, according to officers who are tearing their hair (if any) because lots of folks won't take the war games seriously.

"You newspaper people can help us out a great deal if you can get it over to civilians and soldiers alike that this is dead serious business," said Colonel Edward W. Lachmiller, regulating officer of the Third army quartermasters. "They call it 'war games' but it's not a game at all.

"The maneuvers are conducted under actual war conditions, as far as possible, and the government is spending millions of dollars to train its soldiers how to act in combat. It's true that we're not using real bullets in our guns but otherwise we're doing our best to simulate warfare. It will be money well spent if both soldiers and civilians realize its purpose."

Just how anxious the commanding generals are to convince their troops that they should operate just as they would if an actual invasion was in progress was seen when Lieutenant-General Walter Krueger called a halt to the first phase of the maneuvers last Tuesday afternoon and then pointed out what he appropriately termed stupid mistakes made by his army.

These mistakes were made, of course, because the troops knew there was no danger of an actual attack, and they failed to observe the precautions that would have been de-

SUBPOENA IS AGAIN DEFIED BY GOVERNOR

Deputy Sheriff Tells How Jones Said He Would Not Comply

BATON ROUGE, La., Aug. 26.—(AP)—Another attempt to bring Governor Sam Jones into the East Baton Rouge district court as a witness failed today.

The governor refused to answer a subpoena issued at the request of State Senator Joe T. Cawthorn of Mansfield, appearing as attorney for District Judge James W. Jones of Natchitoches, who is seeking a mandamus against State Treasurer A. P. Tugwell and State Auditor L. B. Baynard forcing them to pay salary warrants of $2,500 which have accumulated since impeachment proceedings were instituted against him.

Cawthorn, addressing the court, said he wanted to question Governor Jones on the allegation by Judge Jones that the governor had called him to his office and suggested that he resign.

"I don't say that he threatened the judge," Cawthorn said, "but he let him know that he expected him to resign and let him know that if he did not do so, all the resources of his administration would be turned loose to make him wish he had resigned."

Cawthorn said the judge refused to resign.

"We feel that if the governor is going to use the prestige of his office in this manner he should be willing to take the stand and explain the situation," Cawthorn continued. "We feel that the testimony of the governor is relevant to the case."

Cawthorn said the deputies had made personal service on the subpoena and he wanted them on the witness stand to tell how they had had "to chase him all over town."

"If the governor still refuses to testify," Cawthorn continued, "if he has no explanation to offer under the circumstances, I will not insist on his testifying because the public at large will take it as an admission that the accusations made by Judge Jones are true."

Deputy Sheriff L. H. Strickland testified that he had been given the subpoena to serve on the governor and that he went to the office of W. C. Perrault, assistant attorney general, who, he said, had previously told him to bring such papers to him. He said that after waiting a while and being unable to see Perrault, he went to the executive mansion, where after some conversations with a woman and a state policeman he was told that the governor would not accept service.

Opening Of Grammar, High Schools Postponed

Northeast Junior College Will Start At Scheduled Time

Following a meeting of parish, city, and parochial school heads this morning in the office of Superintendent T. O. Brown of the parish school system, it was announced that all schools in Ouachita parish would postpone their openings to remove possible hindrance to the September war games in the parish. Dr. C. C. Colvert, head of Northeast Junior college here, said that the junior college would open as scheduled on September 8.

The decision to postpone the opening of city and parish schools covers both white and colored schools, it was announced. It was agreed, the joint announcement of the school heads said, that the delay should not go beyond October 6 and that the time lost would be accounted for during the regular school term without extending the term beyond the first week in June.

In attendance at the meeting were the following officials:

Superintendent E. L. Neville of the Monroe city school system; Assistant Superintendent Mrs. Chrissie H. Williams, and Fred G. Thatcher, acting president of the Ouachita parish school board; Right Rev. Msgr. N. F. Vandegaer, St. Matthew's parochial school; Rev. Henry Freiburg, St.

YOUTH ADMITS ROBBING BODY

Jim Still Colvin Given 3 Years For Rifling Wireman's Corpse

A 23-year-old youth pleaded guilty in district court here Tuesday morning to robbing a dead man, and was sentenced by Judge David I. Garrett to serve three years in the parish jail subject to road duty.

Jim Still Colvin told the court that while he was carrying the body of Wayne Wireman, flight instructor at Northeast Junior college, who was killed instantly in an automobile accident August 17, from the scene of the tragedy on highway 80 to the St. Francis sanitarium, he took $60 from the man's pocket.

Colvin was arrested by state police on August 20, after Sheriff Clyde Frasier of Lincoln parish had investigated the case.

Six other persons entered guilty pleas during the morning's session. Theodore Valdez, charged with carnal knowledge, was sentenced to 60 days in jail. Ernest Hardy, accused of assault and battery was given a similar sentence. Charged with forgery, W. Palmer was sentenced to 12 months in jail from date of incarceration.

Nathaniel Pierce, negro, charged with larceny of a truck, was sentenced to serve six months in jail and pay a $200 fine and costs of court or serve an additional year. Two other negroes, LeRoy Minor and James Owens, were charged with burglary at night. Minor received a five-year penitentiary sentence, and Owens, a second offender, a 10-year sentence.

BRITISH PRESS IS PLEASED BY IRAN INVASION

Says One Prime Objective To Keep Passageway To Russia Open

LONDON, Aug. 26.—(AP)—The British press today took the view that the expulsion of some 3,000 German technicians from Iran—the official reason for the invasion—was of less importance than establishment of a new land link with Russia.

Newspapers welcomed the first joint action by Britain and Russia as the beginning of what the Daily Mail called "a no-nonsense phase in British policy."

Lord Beaverbrook's Daily Express went so far as to call the expulsion of the German elements a "subsidiary object."

The two prime purposes, an editorial said, are:

"First, to close the last gap in the land boom against any eastward drive of Hitler, and second, to keep a carriageway open for British-American aid to our fighting Russian allies."

A neutral military source said that reservoirs of war materials in Egypt, swelled by lease-lend goods from the United States, would be "within comparatively easy reach of trans-Caucasian Russia by sea, rail and highway once occupation of Iran is complete."

Such a supply line could "just as easily be used to transport troops as supplies" to Russia, this source observed significantly, and suggested it might prove one answer to reported Russian criticism that British aid against Germany thus far has been inconsequential.

From the direction of the Mediterranean he said, there are some fairly good rail and motor routes that cross

WORKERS RETURN TO SHIP PLANT

(By Associated Press)

Under navy control, the strike-troubled Federal Shipbuilding and Dry Dock company's Kearny, N. J., plant returned to work today on $493,000,000 of defense ships while transit workers, already back on their jobs, voted in Detroit on whether the A. F. L. or C. I. O. should represent them.

On this first day of full activity at the shipyard since the strike started August 7, the navy said that 10,889 or 97.3 per cent of the workers reported for duty. Rear Admiral Harold G. Bowen, manager for the navy, added that "the men are working enthusiastically and will try to make up the lost time."

Resumption after 19 days of idleness of construction of warships and maritime commission vessels at Kearny followed an offer of the company last night to sell the entire business to the government. L. H. Korndorff, company president, suggested that would simplify matters since the navy is running the establishment.

The navy took charge of the Federal yard Sunday on orders from President Roosevelt after the company and C. I. O. shipbuilders failed to reach agreement to end a strike. The hitch was a union demand for a contract clause requiring union members to pay their dues or lose their jobs, during the life of the contract.

Balloting at Detroit will continue until 7 a.m. Wednesday. The election, protested by C. I. O. municipal workers, was the main point in a settlement ratified Sunday by A. F. L. transit workers, thus ending their five-day strike. The A. F. L. union is seeking exclusive representation privileges.

LOWERED TAX BASE OPPOSED

Senate Fight Against Committee's Proposal Quickly Develops

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—(AP)—Senate opposition materialized quickly today to the finance committee's proposal for stiffening the new defense tax bill by lowering personal income exemptions and thus requiring an additional 7,000,000 persons to file returns.

There was opposition, too, for a provision that would end the community property system of filing returns now permitted in eight states—Texas, Louisiana, Arizona, New Mexico, Idaho, California, Nevada and Washington.

Under the finance committee's plan, the bill—which called for a record-breaking $3,236,700,000, as passed by the house—would have its yield boosted to an estimated $3,590,700,000.

Approximately $303,000,000 of this potential increase was accounted for when the committee voted yesterday to lower present income exemptions from $2,000 to $1,500 for married persons and from $800 to $750 for single persons.

An additional $51,000,000 revenue would be derived by eliminating the community property returns.

Asked whether the community property change was satisfactory, Senator Connally, Democrat, Texas, replied in a drawl: "It air not. You'll hear a lot more about that when it comes to the senate floor."

As for the proposed cuts in exemptions, a highly-placed Republican leader said a substantial group in his party would vote against them and Senator Clark, Democrat, Idaho, said they failed to solve the fiscal problem.

5 L. T. I. BOYS HELD FOR F. B. I.

Escaped Youths Are Apprehended In Prescott And Benton, Ark.

Five fugitive youths from Louisiana Training Institute here were being held Tuesday by Arkansas peace officers for investigation by federal authorities in connection with an automobile which they allegedly stole here and drove into the other state, according to Sheriff Milton Coverdale.

Paul Cook, 17, and Gerard Laborde, 15, were apprehended Monday by Prescott, Ark., sheriff's deputies when they were seen riding in an automobile belonging to Mrs. Jewel McQuiller, 2704 South Grand street, which was reported stolen here Sunday. The two youths escaped early Sunday afternoon. Cook is from Bastrop, and Laborde is from Mansura.

Chief of Police W. H. McKeown of Benton, Ark., wired Sheriff Coverdale Tuesday morning that his officers had picked up the other three youths and that they admitted participation in the theft of the automobile. Identified as Frank Boone, John Ricketts and Jack Higdon, they, too, were being held for federal investigation.

Sheriff Coverdale said the fleeing boys burglarized McConothy and Young, automobile dealers concern, in Bastrop, Sunday night, taking $33, then entered the Blue Moon cafe there, taking some cigarettes and a cigarette machine.

The recovered automobile will be returned here following the investigation, the sheriff indicated. Monroe and West Monroe police cooperated with the local sheriff's department on the case, Coverdale said.

BEAVERBROOK SAYS U. S. IN FULL SWING

LONDON, Aug. 26.—(AP)—Lord Beaverbrook, British minister of supply, who recently returned from conferences in Washington, declared today that the United States was in the full swing of production and that there had been no slowdown since Germany invaded Russia.

Asked at a press conference if the United States was near to entry into the war, Beaverbrook replied:

"It's nobody's business other than citizens of the United States, but if I am not to be hypocritical I'd like to see them in now."

"I feel no pessimism about increasing United States production," he asserted.

Of American airplanes he said, "They are just as fine as any product in this country or any other country."

Beaverbrook said that last week was the biggest Britain ever had in tank production.

However, he continued, "We now are in the unhappy state of having more troops than weapons," and said that while production in Britain was improving it was not up to his expectations after two years of war.

BRITAIN'S NEWEST BATTLESHIP READY

LONDON, Aug. 26.—(AP)—Great Britain's newest battleship, the 35,000-ton Duke of York, was reported ready today to take her place alongside her sister ships, the King George V and the Prince of Wales.

Shipyard men were reported working in day and night shifts to complete arming the giant of the sea. Her sister ships carry ten 14-inch guns, sixteen 5.25-inch guns, four multiple pompoms and several smaller guns. Each carries four aircraft and one catapult.

The Duke of York is the third of five warships in the King George V class laid down in 1937. The Anson and the Howe are still under construction.

(The King George V carried Lord Halifax, ambassador to the United States, into Baltimore on her maiden voyage last winter. President Roosevelt conferred with Prime Minister Churchill aboard the Prince of Wales in their recent Atlantic meeting.)

OFFICERS TO RETURN WEST MONROE PAIR

Floyd and Ralph Pinion of West Monroe, wanted by officers here, waived extradition and will be removed here Wednesday from San Antonio, Tex., Sheriff Milton Coverdale said Tuesday. The two are charged with embezzlement of an automobile from their brother, Charles Pinion, also of West Monroe.

The pair borrowed his automobile Monday morning and ran away with it, Charles Pinion reported to the sheriff. Monroe and West Monroe police assisted the sheriff's office on the case and the two were located in San Antonio, where police were requested to hold them. A deputy sheriff was scheduled to leave Tuesday afternoon to return the Pinion men, Coverdale stated.

MILITARY MISSION WILL GO TO CHINA

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—(AP)—President Roosevelt has decided to send a military mission to China.

Dr. Hu Shih, the Chinese ambassador, disclosed the decision after a call on the chief executive today.

Hu Shih said it would be headed by Brigadier-General John Magruder, but he was unable to say whether it would be a permanent mission or how many members it would have. He indicated that the mission would study Chinese needs for American military supplies and perhaps also strategic problems involved in China's war with Japan.

FATHER AND SON RELEASED ON BOND

Milton R. R. Jones and his son, Jake Jones, of near West Monroe, were released on $300 bonds Monday afternoon following their arrest on charges of disturbing the peace and threatening to take a man's life. Sheriff Milton Coverdale said Tuesday.

Both men were arrested on two charges. The complaint was made by Louie Gibson, a neighbor, who said the father and son threatened to kill him and used obscene language, disturbing the peace.

ARMY PRISONERS TO BE ON HONOR

PRESCOTT, Ark., Aug. 26.—(AP)—Prisoners will be on their honor during the Second army phase of maneuvers in Arkansas and Louisiana August 28-September 10.

Umpires were instructed today to tag the senior prisoner in each group captured, writing on the tag the number of men taken, the date and hour of capture. They then will be sent back to their own territory to remain out of action for 24 hours.

$7,586,896,948 FOR DEFENSE AVAILABLE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—(AP)—A new fund of $7,586,896,948 was available today for the nation's direct defense, and President Roosevelt was reported to be considering a request to congress for $5,000,000,000 to $6,000,000,000 more in lease-lend money.

In approving the $7,586,896,948 appropriation yesterday, the chief executive made available $6,586,896,948 for new army tanks, anti-tank weapons and ammunition, and for expansion of the naval commission. Most of the remainder will go for the maritime commission's ship acquisition and construction program.

Although Mr. Roosevelt discussed the projected lease-lend appropriation yesterday with his legislative advisers, the exact sum to be asked for was not decided upon. Estimates of the cost of the new program still are coming in from various government departments.

Authentic sources said none of the new lease-lend money would be used for aid to Russia.

NEW ZEALAND WANTS TREATY WITH U. S.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—(AP)—Prime Minister Peter Frazer of New Zealand described the Far Eastern situation as "very critical" today and declared his country would agree to any mutual defense arrangement with the United States.

Fraser called on Secretary of State Hull, accompanied by Frank Langstone, New Zealand minister of lands, who has been in the United States several months negotiating on defense supplies.

The prime minister came to Washington on his way back to New Zealand and after a four months' trip which took him through the Middle East and to England.

NAVY ENLISTMENTS ORDERED EXTENDED

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 26.—(AP)—The navy has been authorized to extend enlistments made subsequent to August 18 until six months after termination of war or national emergency and to double the existing enlistment allowance for men reenlisting within 24 hours after discharge.

The announcement, made here today by Captain T. A. Thomson, Jr., eighth naval district commandant, stated the authority was given Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox under legislation passed by congress August 18.

HOLLAND TO DISCUSS DEFENSE PROJECTS

The possibilities of Northeast Louisiana's sharing in the national defense program's projects will be discussed Wednesday by George D. Holland before members of the Rayville Kiwanis club.

Ivy Jordan, Monroe, lieutenant-governor of the Kiwanis district, will accompany Mr. Holland to Rayville for the luncheon session.

PEONAGE CASE LEFT TO JUDGE

Jurist Will Decide Whether Georgians To Be Transferred

MACON, Ga., Aug. 26.—(AP)—Whether Hamilton McWhorter, former president of the Georgia senate, and W. T. Cunningham, Oglethorpe county planter, must face trial at Chicago on charges they conspired to "hold negroes in a condition of peonage and slavery" is up to District Federal Judge Bascom S. Deaver.

A day-long hearing was conducted at Athens yesterday, and Judge Deaver said then he would hand down a ruling at Macon "in about two days."

Federal authorities requested removal of the two men to Chicago for trial. The point Judge Deaver has for decision is whether he considers the evidence strong enough to warrant removal.

Wallace Miller, attorney for Cunningham, said if Judge Deaver rules in favor of the two men "that will be the end of it, since there is no provision of law providing for the transfer of a case from one federal district to another."

McWhorter and Cunningham were indicted by a Chicago federal grand jury several months ago and the Chicago district attorney's office said the indictment charged that "for many years Cunningham had enslaved negroes on his plantations, inducing them to come to work by promises of wages and by getting them out of jail or off of the chain gang. Once on the plantations, the negroes were no longer free. They received no wages and Cunningham instilled in them the fear of running away by lashing them with straps."

The indictment was returned after three negroes, who had worked on Cunningham's farm, were successful in resisting extradition to Oglethorpe county where they are under indictment on burglary charges.

Attorneys for McWhorter and Cunningham argued there was no evidence that the two men conspired to bring the negroes into peonage. They also contended the Chicago court lacked jurisdiction and the charges should have been made in the district where the two men reside and where the alleged abuses occurred.

HISTORIC FORT MORGAN LEASED

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Aug. 26.—(AP)—Governor Dixon announced today the leasing of historic Fort Morgan, on Alabama's Baldwin county peninsula, to the navy for establishment of a sectional base and ammunition dump.

The navy, Dixon said, proposes to spend $250,000 to $300,000 on improvements, and agreed to return the fort at the end of the current national emergency.

The base's primary purpose will be to protect shipping in Mobile bay and adjacent waters of the Gulf of Mexico.

The state will receive $1 a year rental and the navy, which is acquiring an adjoining old army reservation, is given the right to renew the lease annually until 1952, unless the emergency terminates sooner.

Dixon said the navy planned new wharfs, running out to 12 feet of water; a tower, for signaling and sighting; to condition existing magazines for ammunition storage, build roads, and run an electrification power line to the fort.

The executive said he had no estimate of personnel to be employed and did not know whether the navy planned to recondition two 13-inch disappearing rifles now located within the fort.

The history of Fort Morgan dates back to the days of Spanish possession, and the existing structure was completed in 1833.

NAZIS ORDER OUT MEXICAN CONSULS

BERLIN, Aug. 26.—(AP)—The German government has informed Mexico that Germany is obliged to withdraw the privileges of Mexican consuls in Germany, it was announced today.

(On August 22 Mexico ordered the closing of 15 German consulates by September 1. This step was taken in reprisal for Germany's action in closing Mexican consular offices in Paris and six other German-controlled cities. These moves followed straining of German-Mexican relations after Germany had requested strongly that Mexico protest against the United States trade blacklist of pro-axis firms.)

Yesterday Germany ordered the closing of Haiti's consulates in the Reich "for political reasons," and it was announced that German consulates in Haiti had been closed.

(Cuba and Honduras similarly have ceased consular relationships with Germany.)

SANGER'S CIRCUS WILL GO ON BLOCK

LONDON, Aug. 26.—(AP)—One of the world's oldest circuses is going on the auction block September 15 because the big top apparently is one of those things a country at war can do without.

James Sanger, descendant of the man who founded Sanger's circus in 1821, said he had continued shows despite the war until recently. Labor and gasoline shortage and lack of food contributed to the woes of the circus.

"I'm afraid it's all over," he said. "The blackout beat us."

GIRL KILLED WHEN PLANE HITS HOME

MANILA, P. I., Aug. 26.—(AP)—A native girl, employed as a cook, was killed today in the first aerial accident to occur since the recent incorporation of the Philippine army air corps with the United States army.

Two Philippine army pursuit planes, staging a practice dogfight over suburban San Juan Del Monte, collided and the pilots bailed out safely.

One plane crashed through the home in which the girl was cooking.

FOURTH DIVISION TO HEAD FOR HOME

DRY PRONG, La., Aug. 25.—(AP)—Its part in the Third army maneuvers completed, the rolling Fourth Division will head for its home station at Fort Benning, Ga., early Wednesday.

The Fourth, the army's only completely motorized division, under the command of Major-General Oscar W. Griswold, participated in two Fourth army corps problems last week, and returns for two months' reorganization.

The reorganization will be followed by a month of maneuvers in North Carolina, when the army will find out in the field how its newest idea in armed might works out in practice.

The trip back to Benning will be made over two routes, with all units of the motorized division moving simultaneously over a period of 2 days.

Column 22 will take the north route, proceeding from Dry Prong through Winnfield to Ruston, La. There the column will turn east on United States highway 80, and will bivouac the first night in the National Park at Vicksburg, Miss. Column 8, taking the south route, will move via Tullos, La., and highway 84 to Prentiss, Miss., where it will bivouac the first night. From there the column will move on highway 84 to Monroeville, Ala., for its second bivouac.

SAYS ARMY TANKS TO ROLL OUT FAST

DETROIT, Aug. 26.—(AP)—K. T. Keller, president of the Chrysler corporation, today told newspaper men who gathered to watch the performance of Chrysler's medium tanks that "before long we will be making more tanks than you can count."

Keller said he was not allowed to reveal the present volume of production at Chrysler's arsenal, but that "we were scheduled to make five tanks a day and I believe I may safely tell you that we are up to schedule."

"I'd hate to be within a mile of one of the cannon when it goes off," he said, declining to discuss further the tanks' armament.

MUCK THEFTS BOTHER

MIAMI, Fla., Aug. 26.—(AP)—Theft of rich muck soil from the fertile everglades is getting to be a nuisance and Sheriff D. C. Coleman says from now on anyone hauling muck better have a bill of sale from the landowner. Trouble is, the holes left by the thefts fill with water and make ideal mosquito hatcheries. Also, the surrounding muck dries out and becomes a fresh fire hazard.

Parish Treasurer.

POLICE JURY PROCEEDINGS,

Monroe, Louisiana, Ouachita Parish.
August 13, 1941.

The Police Jury of the Parish of Ouachita met this day in legal session convened in the Policy Jury Room in the Court House in the City of Monroe, Louisiana, sitting as a Board of Reviewers of the assessments for the year 1940.

Present, Hon. Geo. D. Pipes, President, Messrs. F. G. Studdard, W. J. Vinson, Geo. O. Breece, C. S. Causey, Tom Hicks, W. D. Golson, W. A. Mills, W. O. Roberts, Sandel Berry, D. S. Owens, C. A. Kincaid and J. M. Breard.

Absent—None.

There being no complaints to come before this body, on motion of Mr. Breard seconded by Mr. Owens, the Police Jury adjourned as a Board of Reviewers.

Motion adopted.

GEORGE D. PIPES
President, Police Jury.

FRANK FARMER
Secretary, Police Jury.

ARMY OFFICERS WANT SERIOUS VIEW OF GAMES

manded had enemy aircraft been nearby.

Apparently General Krueger's blistering comment at last Thursday's critique was effective, because news dispatches "from the front" following resumption of the maneuvers indicated that officers of the various units had taken the "hint," and directed their troops to proceed just as they would in real battle.

After analyzing the first phase of these maneuvers, it appears that our army is not adequately equipped, as far as guns are concerned, for war. The shortage undoubtedly is not serious at this stage and additional equipment is being rushed to every camp, but several times we were told that such-and-such unit was unable to participate in the maneuvers because of a shortage of guns.

Several miles back in the woods we ran into an officer who formerly was attached to a regiment which included several soldiers with whom we were personally acquainted.

"Well, this looks like old home week," we cracked. "Where's the —— bivouacked?"

"They're not here," was the reply. "They didn't have enough guns."

It seems that most of the guns and some of the men were suddenly ordered "to another point" and there was no sense in sending the remaining members of the regiment to the maneuvers without equipment.

Where were they sent? He didn't know, except that their destination was "a cold country."

And another group from a light artillery outfit told us that they were "helping out" with the quartermaster corps because of a shortage of field pieces.

But, as pointed out, it isn't serious yet. Material is pouring in from defense industries throughout the nation and during the next two months the supply should be sufficient to fully equip each unit, unless delay is encountered at plants which are now operating on full schedule, according to supply officers.

All of which brings us around to the vital question: "Do you think the United States will actually enter the war?"

We talked to a number of high ranking officers and none, of course, would talk for publication. But it was the almost unanimous opinion that it is inevitable.

At any rate, valuable lessons will be learned during the Louisiana maneuvers and the desire commanding officers to impress upon civilians and soldiers alike the seriousness of the "war games" is understandable.

RESISTANCE TO ANGLO-RUSSIAN ATTACK SLIGHT

capital, indicated that the government might be preparing the ground for early peace negotiations as Teheran police ordered 16 German businessmen to get out of the country within a fortnight.

The British have charged that there were between 3,000 and 8,000 Germans in the kingdom, and both London and Moscow had demanded their expulsion for several weeks before the joint invasion.

On the Russo-German war front, a Red army bulletin acknowledged that Nazi troops were advancing toward Leningrad's jugular vein, the rail line to Moscow, after capturing Novgorod, 100 miles south of the old czarist capital. The Germans were reported within 35 miles of the railroad.

DNB, the official German news agency, said Nazi troops on Sunday captured the industrial city of Luga, 90 miles south of Leningrad, about midway along the Pskov-Leningrad road.

In a battle lasting several days, DNB said, the Germans silenced 112 Soviet bunkers, captured 2,300 prisoners and seized or destroyed 54 armored cars. Luga is the site of large chemical and metal industries and an important airport.

Soviet military dispatches said Leningrad's hastily-drilled people's army had gone into action "in heroic battles for their city, fighting courageously side by side with the Red army."

A heavy 20-hour rainfall soaked the whole battlefront from the Baltic to the Black sea, and the Russians counted on increasingly bad weather to bog down the German advance.

Hitler's high command again summed up progress in the 66-day-old conflict with a single sentence:

"On the entire east front, operations proceed according to plan and successfully."

Other Nazi reports pictured Marshal Semeon Budyenny's Ukraine armies as retreating east of the Dnieper river, under assault by the luftwaffe.

On the middle east front, the German radio quoted the Iran news agency as asserting that Iran troops were putting up stiff resistance, particularly against Soviet forces advancing southward along the rail line to Tabriz.

British headquarters, by contrast, asserted that the joint invasion was progressing so rapidly that casualties were few.

So far, the British said, the biggest prize taken was the town of Abadan, 20 miles up the Shatt-Al-Arad river from the Gulf of Persia, where the troops occupied one of the world's three largest oil refineries.

In addition, the British reported the capture of nearby Bandar Shahpur and the Iraq-Iran border town of Qasr-I-Shirin, 400 miles north.

Under strong aerial support, advancing British Tommies and Indian contingents gained a direct route to the Iran capital of Teheran in capturing Bandar Shahpur, the southern terminus of the Trans-Iranian railroad. Teheran lies on the mountain slopes 70 miles south of the Caspian sea.

A hint that Germany may soon take a hand in the conflict came from Berlin, meanwhile, with authorized Nazi quarters declaring that the Reich and Iran were in active contact over the situation arising from the Anglo-Soviet invasion.

A Nazi spokesman declined to discuss the nature of the negotiations, however, and described reports of German offers of support to the Iranians as "trial balloons."

While Iran's Premier Ali Mansur asserted that the British had bombed and shelled Iranian towns, the British reported merely that R. A. F. bombers showered leaflets on the capital and other towns promising that the invaders had no quarrel with the Iranian people and had no designs on their independence or territory.

In the first bulletin issued from General Sir Archibald P. Wavell's campaign headquarters at Simla, India, the British reported that operations were proceeding "without serious opposition," and added:

"Steps were taken by the air-borne troops to give protection to British families in the employ of the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company."

Other British reports acknowledged "some fighting" had developed at Abadan, the southern end of the pipeline from the great Masjid-I-Sulaiman oil field.

Establishment of an all-weather route for transport of war supplies to Russia was a prime objective of the campaign, as well as the ousting of German specialists from the country.

The Iranian government declared it had taken defense precautions, but there was no indication what sort of resistance was being put up by the army of the Shah, 190,000 strong, guarding the mountain passes and the desert trails.

The Russians announced that Cossacks, riding down from the Caucasus, were half-way to Tabriz, Iran's second-largest city, in the first day of the invasion. Tabriz, old Persian market center which Marco Polo visited on his way to China, is 60 miles from the Soviet frontier through mountain ranges that tower to 14,000 feet. Red army cavalrymen also were said to have penetrated 25 miles toward Ardebil in a thrust down the shores of the Caspian sea, 100 miles farther east.

The Russians reportedly had other troop concentrations near the Iranian frontier in the Turkmen republic on the east of the Caspian sea for a possible pincer drive on the capital of Teheran, but these forces, too, would have to push through miles of mountains.

British forces were reported pressing eastward from neighboring Iraq and northwest toward the vast Iranian oil fields, 80 miles inland from the Persian gulf port of Bandar Ma'Shur.

Premier Ali Mansur told the Iranian parliament yesterday that his government had tried diligently to maintain neutrality and had taken "special measures to reduce the number of Germans in the country."

The British and Russians demanded that Iran expel all Germans and said they had moved military forces into Iran yesterday to wipe out German influences which they charged constituted a danger there.

Front pages of the Berlin press were filled with accounts and maps of the new war front but there was no official indication immediately what action Germany might take.

Turkey's reaction to the British and Russian move was a source of widespread speculation in Berlin, as well as in London. Some sources in the British capital took the view that Turkish resistance to any German demands would be strengthened. The Turkish embassy in London, however, displayed anxiety over the move which one spokesman said "hedges Turkey with war and makes the maintenance of neutrality more difficult than ever."

SCHOOLS WILL START LATER

Paschal parochial school, and Dr. Colvert and Superintendent Brown.

The text of the statement released by the school heads follows:

"In compliance with requests of the army maneuver officers and the state board of education through Superintendent John E. Coxe to assist the United States army in its national defense preparations by removing possible hindrance to the September war games in Ouachita parish and in recognition of possible danger on the streets and highways—whether on foot, in private cars or buses—the school officials of public and parochial institutions of Ouachita parish, in a joint meeting August 26, agreed to defer the opening dates of their schools until such time as deemed necessary by the army and state school authorities.

"It was agreed that the delay should not go beyond October 6 and that the time lost would be accounted for during the regular school term without extending the term beyond the first week of June. Proper publicity to be given before the opening dates of schools. The schools affected are all Monroe city schools, all Ouachita parish schools, and all parochial schools. This includes both white and colored schools.

"The officials represented in the meeting were Superintendent E. L. Neville, Monroe city schools; Assistant Superintendent Mrs. Chrissie H. Williams and Fred G. Thatcher, acting president, Ouachita parish school board; Right Rev. Msgr. N. F. Vandegaer, St. Matthew's parochial school and Rev. Henry Freiburg, St. Paschal parochial school."

CAFE JUST OUT OF FURLOUGHS

"is making things tough on the whole family."

"Why, what's the matter," sympathized Battermann.

"Well," answered the farmer, "I bought my five-year-old son a new bicycle last month. Since the army started coming through here, he doesn't want it anymore."

"What's wrong?" asked the captain.

"He's pestering the life out of us," wailed the farmer, "to buy him a tank to go quail hunting."

Two battalions of a regiment in the 37th division were annihilated during the corps-vs.-corps maneuvers without any effort on the part of the enemy.

While setting up camp in their bivouac area near DeRidder, La., the soldiers of the two battalions heard the rumble of Blue army (enemy) tanks on the road. Instead of running for cover, or protecting themselves against the tanks, the soldiers ran out in the road to watch the tanks go by. In their excitement the men forgot that the tanks were with the enemy. Instead the men crowded about the tanks with interest, the tanks being the first they had seen in the war. The tank soldiers trained their guns on the unsuspecting battalions and theoretically demolished them. Consequently, the umpires ruled the two battalions out of the war.

BOND ISSUE PROPOSED

FERRIDAY, La., Aug. 26.—(Special)—Ferriday residents will vote September 23 on a proposed $55,000 bond issue for financing improvement and extension of the town's waterworks system. The proposal calls for the acquisition of a new water well, a water treatment plant, water main extensions, and other improvements, Mayor A. B. Crothers said.

2 DIE, 50 HURT AS STORM HITS IN NEW JERSEY

across New Jersey and was followed by torrential rains.

George Hemple, about 35, a milkman, was killed in Swedesboro when a smokestack at the Edgar F. Hurff canning plant toppled on his truck. Four plant employes were badly injured and several others suffered minor hurts as four other smokestacks tumbled before the fury of the wind.

Oscar Hunt, secretary-treasurer of the company, estimated damages at $300,000.

David Pinder, 48, of Jersey City, was electrocuted when he attempted to repair an electric crane at Jersey City shortly after the storm spent its fury.

About 40 persons were injured in the Woodbridge area, five of them being hospitalized. Fifty-one homes were wrecked or damaged, while numerous trees were uprooted and poles blown down.

Utility services were disrupted there and in other parts of the state. Traffic was rerouted as roads became clogged with debris or were flooded.

The roof of a $500,000 addition to the Singer manufacturing plant in Elizabeth to handle defense orders was ripped when a tool shed was cut in two and sent swirling through the air. Three employes were hurt by flying debris and glass. Damage was estimated at $10,000 by Herbert J. Goosman, works manager.

KANSAS CITY ALSO SUFFERS FROM STORM

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 26.—(AP)—A teriffic windstorm, approaching hurricane force, struck Kansas City last night inflicting extensive property damage and paralyzing traffic for nearly an hour.

Three huge radio towers were blown over, store fronts smashed, trees uprooted and cornices pitched into normally busy downtown streets.

The spire of the First Presbyterian church in Kansas City, Kas., was blown onto the roof while 20 Boy Scouts were meeting in the basement. Owen Tharp, the scoutmaster, kept the boys singing until the storm abated sufficiently to permit them to leave the building. One of the walls was damaged as the spire fell.

The 544-foot broadcasting tower of radio station KMBC in suburban Johnson county, Kas., crashed onto the home of Frank Angus.

Mrs. Angus, her son, Donald, 10, and her daughter Dorothy, 13, fled to the basement at the start of the storm and escaped injury.

The 80,000-pound tower fell with such force that a steel beam was driven a foot and a half into a concrete roadway.

A nearby 275-foot emergency tower of KMBC also collapsed.

The broadcasting mast of station KCKN at Eighth street and Armstrong avenue in downtown Kansas City, Kas., was blown into the street.

Despite the extensive damage only injuries were reported and only one of these was serious. Frank Hicks was pinned in his car by an uprooted tree and suffered severe back injuries. Two other persons were cut by broken window panes.

At least 150 breaks occurred in power lines leaving much of the city dark. Telephone service was interrupted on six exchanges.

The Kansas City, Mo., fire department received more than 3,500 calls and the Kansas City, Kas., department 75 more. Most of them were for broken power lines but the heavy rain extinguished the blazes.

The weather bureau reported the wind velocity as 73 miles an hour, only two miles an hour less than hurricane velocity. An inch and a quarter of rain fell in 20 minutes at the peak of the storm.

A police car parked downtown was blown a block with the brakes set.

Two passenger planes arrived just before the storm broke.

Railroad service was halted between Kansas City and St. Joseph, Mo., by rising water.

A 51-mile-an-hour gale hit Topeka, Kas., but no serious damage resulted.

JAPAN DETERMINED TO PUSH EXPANSION

SHANGHAI, Aug. 26.—(AP)—The Japanese army is determined to continue its policies in the far east—policies which British Prime Minister Churchill said Sunday have "got to stop"—Lieutenant Colonel Kunio Akiyama, spokesman for the Japanese forces in China, said today.

Commenting on Churchill's broadcast, Colonel Akiyama said that the Japanese army was not afraid of this "threat" to Japan. "Such propaganda as Winston Churchill's cannot change the attitude or policies of Japan," he said.

"What we observe with greater concern is his ulterior motive—that is, to induce the United States into war."

CRANDELL APPOINTED

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 26.—(AP)—Appointment of the Rev. William Crandell, S. J., as assistant dean of men and faculty athletic director of Loyola University of the South was announced today.

He succeeds the Rev. William H. Babb, S. J., as athletic director because of the latter's commissioning as chaplain in the United States navy.

ASKS PINE PRICE SCHEDULE DELAY

JACKSON, Miss., Aug. 26.—(AP)—Governor Paul B. Johnson today joined Louisiana's chief executive in urging Price Administrator Leon Henderson to postpone until October 5 application of price schedules to southern pine lumber.

Acting at the suggestion of Governor Sam Jones, who informed Johnson he had lodged a similar request, Johnson wired Henderson the postponement would "give the mills an opportunity to present their case for a more equitable ceiling."

"On certain items the prices fixed are too low to allow the majority of mills to operate. There are many inconsistencies in the list which should be corrected. I will appreciate your cooperation in postponing the effective date since closing of any mills will mean unemployment and injustice to the mills."

quired to serve it regardless,'" he testified he told them. Upon still being refused admittance he said he went back to the sheriff's office since he hesitated to take the steps necessary to make a personal service of the subpoena.

Deputy Sheriff John East told the court that he took the subpoena to the governor's office yesterday afternoon and served it.

"When I walked into the office," he testified, "the governor met me and said he was not going to accept service until the attorney general had ruled that it was legal. He said I had served some papers on him from Jefferson parish and he considered them illegal. I told the governor that he was a lawyer and I was not, that the court had directed me to serve the papers and that if he thought they were illegal he could ignore them."

tion in output of metal office furniture, filing cabinets, cash registers, duplicating paper.

Leading makers are going to try to keep standard typewriter production large enough to cover all business needs, but there will be fewer portable typewriters.

The large rubber companies will be pleased if you go easy on rubber footwear. Wear rubbers only when walks are wet.

Informed circles say, too, that material shortages already have hit, or soon will curtail output of toys and games, amateur cameras and other photographic equipment, novelties and knickknacks made of metal, smokers' stands and metal ashtrays, advertising displays, "juke boxes" and recording discs, fans, dry shavers, razors and blades, and slide fasteners.

Don't worry, however, about shortages of toys this Christmas. Leading makers have been preparing for a record Christmas season ever since toy totals last Yule season were found to have boosted the 1940 aggregate to $240,000,000, the biggest in history. The trade predicts this season's Christmas toy trade will equal or exceed 1940.

BRITISH PRESS IS PLEASED BY IRAN INVASION

the Iraq frontier and link with lines to Tabriz and the Russian frontier in the Caucasus.

From the Persian gulf, over which the British apparently enjoy undisputed control, there are rail and motor routes running northward through Teheran to Iran's Caspian ports. Normal commercial shipping brings more than 500,000 tons of trade from Russia into these ports each year, and their facilities easily could be strengthened for war purposes, it was pointed out.

It would be perfectly feasible, one source said, to move British armored divisions overland into Russia from Iraq or the Persian gulf.

The London press reiterated that neither Britain nor Russia desired to shed Iranian blood needlessly, and the Times, urging Iran to "face the realities of the situation," said "an agreement can still be reached and this unhappy incident brought to an end."

ARMY WEAPON SHORTAGE IS LESS EVIDENT

admitted that dummy weapons still were being used in many of the summer maneuvers but asserted that all units had sufficient weapons for training purposes—enough to rotate so that every man would be familiar with the operation and use of the weapon to which he was assigned.

The department stressed that tactical employment of a weapon—where to place it for most effectice use, for instance—is paramount in maneuvers. For that reason, it said "little training value is lost by the substitution of a stove pipe for a mortar or an oak bough for a machine gun."

This theory has been criticized in congressional quarters, however, chiefly on the ground that widespread use of dummy weapons lowers morale of the troops.

By way of rebuttal, the army pointed out that the vaunted German army made liberal use of cardboard tanks and wooden rifles in the early days of its reorganization.

"What was important was that they learned tactics and strategy," the war department said.

It's a top-flight example of the new transportation efficiency that the whole nation is now looking for—and that Studebaker engineers are particularly well-qualified to provide.

These Skyway models are Studebaker President Eights and Commanders—the same high-quality cars, structurally and mechanically, as the famous President Eight and Commander that took first place honors for gas economy in their price divisions in this year's officially supervised Gilmore-Grand Canyon Run.

Only a limited number of these Skyway models is available. But if you act promptly, you may still obtain one. Come in now and go for a trial drive—then turn in your present car as part payment on a good-looking, long-lived, dollar-saving, new Skyway Studebaker. C.I.T. terms.

Education—More Vital Than Ever

Many a boy is probably hesitating at this moment about going back to school or college. "What's the use?" some may be asking. "About the time I get started, I'll be called up for military service; I might never finish, and have just wasted my time. What difference does it make, anyway?"

It is natural enough for young men to be thinking in such terms in days like these. There is one sound bit of advice: "Get all the education you can while you can."

If the course is interrupted, the school and college training, as far as it has gone, will help the selectee through his military service, and may definitely lead to "promotion and pay" within that service.

Generally speaking (there are always exceptions) the educated man adapts himself to changed conditions more easily, understands more fully the necessity for training; hence he finds his "hitch" easier to do. In today's modern, complex, highly organized army, there is a use for any kind of training he may get. Again, there are exceptions and one can always find instances where the army has made Phi Beta Kappas specialize in digging latrines. But generally speaking, any kind of educational training is directly useful in the army, aside from its general value.

The world after the emergency has passed, furthermore, is going to be an even more highly competitive world than before. Jobs may be scarce, and the better prepared a man is, the more chance he will have to land one.

Further, at any time the government may begin taking a leaf from the book of its World war experiences. Then the time between the colleges and the military services was very close. Training was instituted in the colleges and schools themselves, and students received advance preparation which helped them advance in military careers if such followed. Further, certain credits were allowed for actual military service, facilitating return to school after the war with minimum loss of time and credit. Some such system may well be adopted again.

Any boy hesitating about returning to school this fall would do well to think of those things. In high school or college, for six months or four years, the young man who studies, prepares himself for better and more effective service, adds to the stock of training and education of the nation; he, too, is serving his country until the time when more exacting service is required.

NEW YORK—James Montgomery Flagg treats the warm weather calmly. . . . His wiry, bristly grey hair is innocent of a hat. . . . He wears rumpled gabardines with no tie, and his collar is on the outside of his coat.

Flagg is six-feet-two and owns the bushiest eyebrows in New York. The wrinkles at the corners of his eyes are laugh wrinkles. He likes Roosevelt and the radio but hates athletics. "The word baseball makes me shudder," he recently said to Vesta Kelling during an interview. "I like neither the game, the dust, the yelling, the pop bottles, the peanut shells, nor the shirt sleeves. I must be a snob."

One of these days some motion picture producer is going to have Oliver Gramling's book, "AP—The Story of News," crammed down his throat; then he will receive credit for being an astute showman and grabbing a "natural" while his rivals weren't looking. Had Noel Coward written it (which he couldn't have, even if he wanted to) it would already be hailed as another Cavalcade. It is exactly what its title says it is—the story of news. If you like newspapers, you ought to read it. Presently Oscar Serlin is going to produce it on Broadway. There's a plum in it for the man who takes it to Hollywood.

The seals in Rockefeller Center should be viewed from all angles. Yesterday I happened to be in the offices of the American Spirits company, high in the RCA building. Peter Siskin said, "Poke your head out the window and look at the seals." . . . I did. . . . From that distance, they seemed to be something thought up by Salvador Dali. . . . They were flat as pancakes, utterly without depth. . . . They swam and frolicked like apparitions out of a Walt Disney film.

While there I was introduced to a famous old character of the New York bar—Judge Warren Foster, whom Herbert Asbury mentions so favorably in his book "The Gangs of New York." The Judge likes to talk of Mark Twain, whom he knew, and also of Ben Butler, who won questionable fame as "Beast" Butler, military dictator of New Orleans during the Civil war and who was charged with stealing all the silver spoons in that southern metropolis. "That wasn't true," the Judge declared. "Ben Butler was greatly maligned."

The Judge also had an interesting explanation of the word "stateroom" as we know it today. Accommodations aboard ship are universally known as "cabins." In New Orleans there was one captain who had two especially fine cabins of his ship. One of these he named Louisiana and the other Mississippi. It was his custom to give these to distinguished guests. . . . If you were important, you got one of the "State" rooms. . . . That's how the word stateroom came into common use.

The crumbling walls of the old brick courthouse at Rockford, N. C., are all that remain of the impressive building where Andrew Jackson received his license to practice law.

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 26.—Sam Wood, currently directing "King's Row" at Warner Brothers, is irked, and I can't say I blame him. Here, in brief, is the fly in his directorial ointment.

One of the important roles in "King's Row" is that of Cassandra Tower. It has plenty of appeal and lots of dramatic oomph—but "Cassie" dies halfway through the picture. Because of that, Wood has been unable to cast the role. The one top-flight actress who wants to play it, can't because of previous commitments. Nine other ranking femmes have refused to consider it, simply because the part isn't long enough!

The habit of judging everything by quantity rather than quality shouldn't, I suppose, occasion surprise in an industry that insists on committing hara-kari via the double-feature system. But the history of both screen and stage offers countless examples to prove that great stars are made, not by the length of their roles, but by the strength of their roles. To cite just one: Look what "Mr. Chips" did for Greer Garson ,despite the fact that she appeared in not more than one-fourth of the scenes and died long before the picture's end.

The thing that makes this present case still more ludicrous is the identity of the actress who's pining to play the role. Surely she should be credited with pretty fair dramatic judgment by her sisters. Her name is Bette Davis!

Confidential Communiques to: Robert Montgomery: Despite that naval commission, it might be wise to forego such blasts-at-Hollywood as those you've recently unleashed. There may be a day when you'll want to come back. . . . Comedian Jack Marshall, Club Moderne, San Francisco: A major studio talent scout caught your act following this column's recently encomium and sent back a wow report. If you play a Hollywood nitery, as you play, you're a cinch to land a movie deal. . . . Leo Carillo: I want to call your attention to a serious oversight. Five miles west of San Bernardino, there's an old adobe ranch house that no publicity man has yet tabbed as one of the Carillo family homesteads. You must be slipping.

Personal Observations: If you want to know any detail of baseball history, ask very-English Nigel Bruce. . . . It takes an ultra-formal occasion and hours of wifely pleading to get Clark Gable into a tuxedo. . . . If it's Dave Butler directing, there'll be several sports celebrities visiting the set. . . . Grace Moore, who likes severely tailored duds for street wear, has a passion for frilly negligees at home. . . . Add key-chain fiddlers: John Howard. . . . Greer Garson's English accent grows broader each passing month. . . . I'm always amazed by Jimmy Cagney's ability to remember names. . . . Odd, but in this feud-atory town, I've never heard any gal speak ill of Lucille Ball. . . . Despite that sobersides appearance, Henry Fonda can be depended on for dry humor that keeps the set in titters.

Memories: When colored-comic Stepin Fetchit (out of the movies today) wowed Hollywood with a snow-white limousine and a chauffeur and footman. . . . When Nelson Eddy, who later made such a fuss about "women pursuing him," used to turn in personal reports on all his dates to MGM's publicity department. . . . When Clive Brook, experiencing his first earthquake (a mild shake), broke a door from its hinges in his rush from the Fox commissary to the street. . . . When silent-star Helen Ferguson, then an unsung beginner, crashed the old Sennett Studios via a coal chute. . . . When Fifi Dorsay, supposed to speak only broken English, forgot her pose in a rage and regaled studio press-agents with a blast of very unaccented words. . . . When cowboy star Art Acord won a big-money bet by jumping his horse off the end of the Venice pier (a 45-foot jump) and swimming it back to shore.

URGES GOOD TELEPHONE MANNERS

The telephone is as much a part of a household as the members themselves. It becomes the extension of these members, reaching far outside the house into the homes, the minds and the hearts of those at the other end.

We have become so accustomed to its use that we forget it is so closely associated with us that it carries our moods, our manners, our characters across the wire and into the presence of another person. If we remembered this oftener we would have better manners when using the telephone, and we would teach our children the technique which perfects the service.

The person calling is entitled to know to whom he is talking. If he has good manners he will introduce himself at the start.

"This is Jack Jolly talking. This is Jack Jolly. This is Jack," according to the intimacy of the two people who are talking.

In return the one receiving the message should say promptly, "This is Betty Ann. Did you want to speak to Marie? One moment, please, I'll call her."

To begin a drawn-out conversation which has neither point nor intelligence by saying, "Guess who this is." "Know who this is?" is unthinkable. To use the telephone for the silly wise-cracking some high school youths and maidens indulge in is equally impossible.

Telephone calls should be conducted in a dignified sensible fashion. They cost money; they entail service; they touch on the rights of other people. One father had to leave town without telling his family because he could not get the use of his telephone. His daughter was talking nonsense to her boy friend for the half-hour left him before train time.

In talking over the wire children should be taught to speak in complete phrases or sentences. Never say, "No," plump and downright. Say, "No, Mrs. Little. Yes, I think so, Mrs. Little," and soften the word.

If the person wanted is out, say so in a rounded phrase, pleasantly, "I am sorry he is not here now. Will you leave a message for him or shall I tell him to call you?" Don't answer shortly, "No" or "Yes." It leaves the person at the other end of the wire hanging by cord in the air and he does not like it. He will credit his dislike to the person who hung him there.

Don't hang up the receiver with a snap. Wait long enough to make certain the other person has said all he intends to say; listen for his receiver to click and then, gently, slip the thing to its place. More tempers have been wrecked, more dislikes set by the snapped down receiver than one would like to say.

Don't say what you would not think of saying to the person's face just because you are using a telephone. What you say must stand alone, without benefit of your expression, your smile, your attitude. If you must refuse a request do it gently, in kindness, with good manners. If you are angry keep still until you have control of your voice and manners. These little points are important to children. They will be known by their telephone manners. Begin by setting them a good example. Then teach them how to talk, what to say, what to do. It is worth-while.

WASHINGTON—The "airmail for Punkin Center," as Representative Jennings Randolph of West Virginia, the legislative daddy of it, calls the airmail pick-up system, is celebrating its first birthday.

It is just a year ago that I wrote in these columns about how the post-office department was going to take the airmail to the whistle stops, with on-the-wing pick-up and delivery to 109 hamlets in New York, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Ohio, Kentucky and Delaware.

It was, said postoffice officials, purely an experiment, but the results of that experiment are not prop-wash. According to Representative Randolph, in that one year's time the new airmail service has reached the point where it can be considered self-sustaining insofar as its direct cost to the government is concerned.

The service, at present in the hands of All-American Aviation, Inc., of Wilmington, Del., flew 693,727 miles—making 32,000 pickups and deliveries without losing a single piece of mail or express and without any serious flying accident. The flying schedules were maintained at 92 per cent of schedule.

But that's just the service record and wouldn't mean a thing if the folks all along the line didn't care two whoops for patronizing direct airmail service. So let's get down to cases.

Jump Of 62 Per Cent

A year ago, Glenville, W. Va., population 588, the smallest town on the circuit, was sending about 200 pieces of airmail a month. Today, according to the latest check, Glenville is dispatching an average of 791 pieces a month. Belington, W. Va., another of the smaller towns, jumped from an average of only 26 pieces a month to 306. Jamestown, N. Y., with a population of 42,502, increased from 4,080 pieces monthly to 10,328.

All in all, the 109 cities increased their use of airmail 62 per cent, going from 157,000 pieces monthly to 254,000. It looks like the folks back home think the idea is all right.

Pickup flying is another of those stories of the "mail must go through" that have been popping up ever since the days when the pony express boys took their scalps in their hands and pounded pell-mell through the Indian country.

Pickup pilots have to fly low; pick-ups and delivery drops are made from 60 to 75 feet off the ground. They have to be able to see where they are going—flying as near dead-center as possible between two poles, 60 feet apart. Given good weather, it's not trick at all; but gliding out of a murky 200 foot ceiling, with sighting your objective and heading for it a matter of seconds, is something else again. Undoubtedly, some of the pony express boys, were they still around, would rather have Indians.

Night Flying Next

The next big step in the pickup business is going to be night flying which will permit 24-hour schedules. Night pickups have been impossible so far, but equipment already has been developed to make it as simple as the daylight run.

Just what congress is going to do about all this isn't certain yet. The report has just been made public and the pressure of national defense affairs has been too great to jump into what is almost certain to develop into a big scrap between feeder airline companies.

Two things seem pretty definite. (1) The "experiment" won't be abandoned, being as successful as it is; and (2) the communities in the six eastern states can't go on long with this special privilege without a howl from other sections.

Maybe there really is something to Congressman Randolph's prediction that within five years, the "Pumpkin Center airmail" will be servicing 2,500 communities in these United States.

Officers for the ensuing year were named today by the Louisiana Christian Endeavor union, in annual session here as follows: President, Rev. L. L. Lemon, Leesville; vice-president, H. H. Baur, Monroe; secretary, Mrs. Ada Smith, New Orleans; treasurer, Herman T. Bartels, New Orleans; intermediate superintendent, W. H. Gillespie, Shreveport; junior superintendent, Miss Ethel Valentine, Mansfield; senior superintendent, Miss Dorothy Gregg, Monroe; M. P. S. superintendent, Miss Elizabeth Drago, New Orleans; Quiet Hour and Life Work, Miss Frances Butler, Monroe; tenth legion and missions, Miss Mary Matts, Jeanerette; publicity, Philip Pfeffer, New Orleans; publication, Miss Melba McKinney, Shreveport.

In the future prisoners of the Monroe police will be accorded transportation comforts hitherto unknown here. Privacy is to be now afforded all who journey to the city jail. Yesterday the offical "Black Maria" arrived. It has a large truck body capable of housing 12 at one time, with nobby rear end steps and railing on which the arresting officer rides to jail. The interior of the car is well lighted. A feature especially attractive for home brew parties is a device that converts the car into an ambulance, both comfortable and confining. The car is duly labelled as "Police Patrol," words painted on the exterior. In the near future it is to have a loud siren to clear the path during emergencies, Superintendent H. D. Apgar stated he was well pleased with the city's first patrol wagon, which was specially designed and constructed in Detroit.

WANTS TO ADOPT 42-YEAR-OLD MAN

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., Aug. 26.—(AP)—Wealthy William Giles Slocum, 72, is trying to adopt 42-year-old Ralph Campbell Mathewson, declaring he'd be "dad-blamed" if he'll let "a lot of shirt-tail relatives get my money."

Slocum, last blood relation of Frances Slocum, kidnaped by Wyandotte Indians, asserted he wanted Mathewson as a foster son "to carry on the Campbell and Slocum names." His riches lie in coal, farm and timber land.

Mathewson is a descendant of Colin Campbell, legendary hero of a leap on horseback from a bluff on the Susquehanna river still known as Campbell's ledge.

The adoption is being fought by five members of the Bosworth-Patterson family, who claim to be relatives by marriage. They charged in a hearing now under way that Slocum is held virtual prisoner by Mathewson. A decision on the matter is expected in several weeks.

Chapter 23

Housebreakers

JEFF smiled fetchingly at the woman. "Oh," he said, "I didn't know Mr. Ashley had a wife."

"I didn't either," said the woman."

"Are you his sister, then?"

"Hell, no! I ain't related. I wouldn't be! My name's Baumer. You must've rang the wrong bell."

Jeff snapped his fingers in disgust. "Yeah, I must have. What a dope!"

"That's okay. Ashley lives on the top floor." She inspected me over Jeff's shoulder.

I knew Philip's door when I saw it. There was a knocker on it shaped like a tiny black cat. Jeff marched right past it and started climbing another flight of steps, steep and narrow. Panting, I followed him. He pushed open a door at the top of the stairs and pulled me through it after him. We stood in the shadow of a chimney on the gravel roof.

"Jeff!" I wheezed. "What are we doing here?"

He moved to the edge of the roof and looked down. "We're using the fire escape. That would be it and that would be Ashley's window. C'mon."

"Jeff, you can't! You get ten years for that!"

"Not if you catch a murderer."

"But somebody will call the police! Or take a shot at us!"

"Who?" We looked around over the adjoining roofs. There was no one in sight but a little boy with big unhappy blue eyes. He was leaning on the parapet across the shaftway. In his hands was an enormous homemade kite. He was waiting for some wind. "Hey, Kid," Jeff said, pointing to the fire escape, "is this the way to Perry Street?"

"I don't know," the little boy said.

"He'll tell his mother on us, Jeff, and . . ."

"My mother isn't home!"

"See, Haila. Let's go."

I didn't feel quite like it. "Jeff, the window won't be open."

"It would be if you hadn't said that."

I eased myself down the iron steps gingerly after Jeff, until we stood on the balcony outside Ashley's window. Jeff put his hands against the pane and turned his head to me. "Cross all your fingers, Haila." I did. Jeff pressed upward: nothing happened.

"Damn!" Jeff said.

The little boy said helpfully, "The next one to it is open." We looked and he was right, but it wasn't on the fire escape. The sill was a good three feet from the rail of the fire escape.

"No, Jeff!" I said. "You'll kill yourself!"

"Don't be a sissy!" the little boy shouted.

Jeff grinned at me. "See, I got to."

He managed it very easily. That made me the sissy. Jeff opened the window on the fire escape and helped me in.

Ashley's apartment was a large sized edition of his dressing room, as scrupulously clean and astonishingly neat, considering the amount of knickknacks he had amassed and assiduously arranged. Every square inch of flat surface was buried under tiny figurines in terra cotta and ivory, china, animals, mostly cats, little snow scenes in crystal balls, cactus plants in hand-painted pots and an assortment of ash trays and cigarette boxes that ran the gamut.

"Snooping Again"

I STOOD there staring about me helplessly. I looked at Jeff; he was smiling and shaking his head. "The government should plow this room under."

"Find what you want and let's get out of here, Jeff. I'm nervous."

"As a cat?"

"Please, Jeff!" I went to the window and looked down Perry Street. Jeff started opening drawers. I thought I might as well cooperate. I opened a door; it was a closet kitchenette. I went into the bathroom, a tiny almost infinitesimal room, with dubonnet and white monogrammed towels hung tidily over the tub. Between it and the lavatory was wedged a red bathroom scale.

In the medicine cabinet, nestling behind a bottle of Listerine, I found three white tablets, the size of aspirin. "Jeff!" I called. When he stuck his head in the door, I held out a tablet to him. "Look!"

"Yeah?"

"They're the same as I found in his dressing room!"

"I don't want them." He was examining some kind of electric vibrating contraption with avid interest.

"Don't be stupid, Jeff, we'll have them analyzed. They may be morphine!"

Jeff went back into the living room. I followed him. We both stopped. There was the sound of steps on the stairs. They came briskly down the hall and halted before the door. I looked frantically at Jeff.

The door swung open and Ashley closed it and slipped his keys into his pocket before he saw us. His expression changed from startled surprise to indignation, then to fury.

"Hello," Jeff said.

Ashley looked at me. "Snooping again!" His lips were compressed into a thin, prissy line. "This is unspeakable. I wish I hadn't caught you. I'm not up to a vile situation like this."

I couldn't talk. I would have given anything to have been in a concentration camp; any place some place else.

"Ashley, I dragged Haila into this," Jeff said. "I'm the snooper and I'm sorry."

"Sorry! Don't be ridiculous!"

"I'm trying to solve a murder; that partly justifies my intrusion. You've been holding out on me; that completes the justification. And on top of that, I apologize. Do you forgive me and can we be friends and have a little chat?"

"How charming you are, Mr. Troy!" Philip sneered. "How did you get in here? Did that fool janitor . . ."

"We didn't see any janitor. We crawled up through the plumbing." Jeff sat down on the arm of a chair and pulled a pack of cigarettes out of his pocket. Ashley opened the door.

"Now, if you don't mind, please leave." I started toward the door, but Jeff stopped me. Ashley glared at us; he was shaking. So was I. I wanted to run. But Jeff still hadn't moved from his chair.

"Ashley, where were you born? Was it London?"

Some of the rage left Ashley's face and caution took its place. "No, Portsmouth."

"Portsmouth? Hmm. Is that near Salt Lake City?"

"What are you driveling about?"

"About where you were born. And reared. Did you know a family named Young? The Brigham Youngs?"

"Please stop trying to be funny!"

"Or a family named Blanton? There was a daughter, Carol Blanton?"

"Oh, so that's it!"

"Yes," said Jeff. "So you better answer my questions. I'll be more open-minded than Peterson."

"I doubt that! But, yes, I was born in Salt Lake City. I adopted England as my native land for purely professional reasons. It was advantageous. . . ."

"We know about that."

"You seem to know a great deal. But I left Salt Lake City when I was eighteen . . . before Carol Blanton was born. And I've never been back since. Now get out of here! I won't stoop to talk to a pair of sneak thieves who pretend they're trying to solve a murder and . . ."

The Ashley Secret

I COULDN'T keep quiet any longer. I thrust the three white tablets I had found in the bathroom before Ashley's eyes.

"What about these? You're going to be very embarrassed, Mr. Ashley, if they turn out to be morphine! And what about your own sneaky tactics? Ducking us and pussy-footing around Radio City!"

"For the last time, get out of here!" Ashley's face was ugly. Instinctively, I stepped behind Jeff.

"If Mr. Ashley won't talk, Haila, I will. I know the answer to the mysterious mission at Radio City. And the tablets."

Ashley clenched his fists and started toward Jeff who glided around in back of me and spoke to Philip over my shoulder.

"The answer is strictly glandular. Fat! Obesity! That middle-aged spread." Philip wilted and looked as if he were about to burst into tears. "An actor must keep that schoolgirl figure. Those are reducing tablets. In Radio City, on the same floor as Vincent Parker, is the emporium of Madame Somebody, Corsetiere. In the bathroom, note the scales, the reducing machine. In that closet is a girdle for every day of the week. No wonder our friend raised a rumpus when you borrowed his tablets at the theater. You might have discovered what they were and ruined his glamour."

A small "Oh!" was all I could manage.

"It's nothing to be ashamed of, Ashley."

"You son . . ." Ashley started to say.

"Uh-uh!" Jeff waggled a finger at him. Ashley turned his back and stamped to the window. I caught Jeff's eye and motioned toward the door. I wanted to get out of there.

"Ashley," Jeff said, "you shouldn't let your pride make suspicious people like Haila think you're a murderer."

He pivoted around to Jeff. His voice was loud with righteous anger. He was his old pompous self. "Now are you satisfied? Now, will you leave before I have you thrown out by the police? I won't touch you; you nauseate me!"

"We'll go in a second. Quietly." Jeff said. "As soon as you explain this." He held out a small slip of paper.

"What's that? Where did you find that?"

"In your desk."

Ashley whitened. "You've been in my desk? How contemptible of you!"

Jeff read from the paper: "I.O.U. five hundred dollars. Signed Carol Blanton. How do you account for that, Ashley?"

Ashley looked uncertain for a second, then gave a little deprecating laugh. He went to one of his porcelain boxes and got himself a cigarette.

"Oh, that," he said. "I must tell you about that."

"Yes, you must," Jeff said.

BICYCLE WEIGHT WILL BE REDUCED

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—(AP)—The dream of every small boy—a bicycle decked with all kinds of gleaming gadgets—is to become just a mail order catalogue dream.

The office of production management disclosed today that 12 leading bicycle manufacturers had agreed at a meeting with parts suppliers, retailers and defense officials to cut the weight of bicycles about 10 per cent, make fewer models, and eliminate unneeded metal decorations, in order to save vital materials for defense production.

Juvenile and racing models probably will be cut out entirely, it was decided, and each manufacturer will produce only 10 models instead of the 20 to 40 now offered. Thus machine tools, skilled workmen and materials will be freed for more urgent work.

A saving of about 20 per cent in the rubber used by the industry is contemplated by the elimination of white sidewall tires, which automobile manufacturers already have agreed to discontinue.

The 10 per cent weight reduction is to be made largely through the elimination of chrome, copper and nickel as metallic decoration. It was also agreed that reclaimed rubber would be used instead of raw rubber for hand grips and other non-pneumatic parts.

The OPM said the savings expected from the program would be "considerable" noting that the United States bicycle industry turned out 1,325,726 bicycles in 1940, valued at a total of $25,000,000.

Interesting Events Characterize Trip

Travelers Encounter Hunter Farish, Former Teacher At Choudrant

Home from one of those perfect vacations that everyone dreams of but seldom experiences are Mrs. Annie Lee West Stahl, Miss May Read, Miss Cliffie Olmstead, and Mrs. Hazel McLaren, a member of the staff at L. S. U.

The four took a leisurely motor trip through the southeastern and Atlantic coast states, traveling and stopping as their fancy directed them. Universities and spots of historical interest were of especial interest, and many were visited en route.

The University of Alabama, Virginia Military Institute, the University of Virginia, Washington and Lee—these are only a few of the colleges which were inspected.

Concerning the historic spots, the four are most enthusiastic about Williamsburg, the reconstructed town in Virginia which harkens in atmosphere centuries back. There they met with one of those coincidental experiences which made the trip delightful.

On the way to Williamsburg they were approached by a gentleman who had noticed the Louisiana license and wished to inquire as to the section of Louisiana they were from. It developed that he was Hunter Farish, who, having taught school at Choudrant several years ago, is well known in this section of the state. After leaving Choudrant he taught at Harvard for a time and is now directing the research for the restoration of Williamsburg.

Mr. Farish directed the four travelers to outstanding places of interest in Williamsburg and invited them to his home there, which is the oldest in the town.

After Williamsburg, excursions to the homes of famous people in the section were made. Monticello, home of Thomas Jefferson, Ashlawn, home of James Monroe, the home of Patrick Henry, and Biltmore, the Vanderbilt estate, were included on the itinerary.

All the way from Panama City, Fla., came Gilbert and Patty Nelson to celebrate their birthdays among "old friends." The two children had recently moved from Monroe with their parents and found birthdays lacking when there were no friends to help celebrate. Hence the trip to Monroe to celebrate.

Those who helped make the birthdays of the two travelers happy ones were Larry and Terry Reeves, Allen Coon, Henry Hathorn, Ted Flynn, Betty and Peggy Hines, Prentice Massey, "Trish" and "Bubber" Devereaux, Monya Ann McKenzie, Ann Allen, Barbara Ann Garr, Kathleen Walker, Loydelle Walters, Patsy Batten, Annette Moak, Libby Ann Frey, Billy King, Jr., David and Stephen George, Ann Walker, Jackie and Bobby Humble, Harry Pankey, Jay and Joe Cummins, Cherry Lou Chapman, Gloria Jean Crawford, and Frances Lynn Nelson.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Frost of West Monroe announce the marriage of their daughter, Marie, to J. C. Tolbird, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Tolbird of Eros, La. The ceremony was performed by Miss Lee Joyner, pastor at Walnut Grove, Saturday, August 23.

Miss Anne Wyly of Lake Providence will be the guest of Miss Florence Fluker for several days until she leaves for Sophie Newcomb college.

At a recent meeting of the Monroe Rebecca lodge, the following officers were elected: Noble grand, Serena Lewis; vice-grand, Tempie Hegwood; warden, Edith Adams; conductor, Louise Guillory; chaplain, Ella Hogge; musician, Carol Beasley; R. S. N. G., Edith Carr; L. S. N. G., Nancy Neyland; R. S. V. G., Nobie Tarver; L. S. V. G., Ada Mangum; I. G., Sara Auerback; O. G., Theresa Baur; degree captain, Nobie Tarver.

Members are invited to attend a homecoming day in Crowley, La., August 31, at the I. O. O. F. home.

Circle No 1, Woman's Society for Christian Service, was entertained by Mrs. E. R. Timmerman at her home last week. The study course was completed at the meeting, and a test on the entire course given. Mrs. Carl Paulus and Mrs. T. H. Elliott tied for first place honors on the test. Refreshments were served to Mrs. Johnston, Mrs. C. B. Parsons, Mrs. T. H. Elliott, Mrs. Carl Paulus, Mrs. L. H. Patrick, Mrs. W. A. Cross and Mrs G. B. Wilson.

Patricia Ann Simmons, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Simmons, was the central figure at a party last week when she celebrated her fifth birthday. An afternoon spent in playing games was climaxed by the serving of ice cream and birthday cake.

Guests were Iris Marine, Billy Marine, Mary Jo Marine, Rose Ann Canale, Dickie Culpepper, Barbara Brown, H. B. Shaw, Raymond Smart, Martha Mae Logan, Shirley Ann Edmunds, Shelby Rae Joiner, Delbert Rae, Jackie DuBos, Barbara and Rhetta Kahn, David Earl Powell, Gwendolyn Osborne, Donna Welch, Fay Little, Mrs. Dallas Cain, Mrs. Frank Moore, Mrs. Bessie Jackson, Mrs. Perry Marine, Mrs. Joe Marine, Mrs. Stella Roberts, Mrs. Wallace Joiner, Mrs. John Welch, Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Cornette, Mrs. Lynton Culpepper and Miss Christine Thorpe.

Saint Paschal's Altar society held their regular monthly meeting at the church annex last week. A new visiting committee, composed of Mrs. T. A. Panzico and Mrs. J. R. McKnight was appointed by the president, Mrs. C. C. Burkett. Mrs. J. A. Winkler, Jr., was made chairman of the committee to put the home in condition for the arrival of the Sisters August 27.

Father Henry announced that the six priests expected to occupy the new Friary in the near future, and that the new school would adhere to the parish regulations for the opening of school. Both Catholic and non-Catholic students will be charged the same tuition, five dollars per semester.

Mrs. John Potts of Monroe is touring outstanding places of interest in California. While in Hollywood last week, she attended the famous Earl Carroll theater. Mrs. Potts will visit Coronado, the Carlsbad Caverns, and San Antonio before returning to Monroe next week.

Mr. and Mrs. Jeff S. Henderson and daughter, Sandra Alice, are in Monroe for a few days. Former residents of Monroe, they now reside in Texarkana, Ark. Before returning to their home they will go to Marshall, Tex., to get their son, Jeff, Jr., who has been attending Camp Fern there.

Mrs. J. W. Morrison and daughter, Bulajac, have returned from Bernice where they have been visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Autrey.

Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Letts are spending a week in New Orleans with Mr. Letts' sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Dave Ebeling. Before returning to Monroe they will visit G. Y. Bloze in Bay St. Louis, Miss.

EIGHTH CORPS DEFENDERS IN GRAVE DANGER

Powerful Pincers Of Fifth Army Threaten To Engulf Them

By Norman Walker

WITH THE THIRD ARMY IN WESTERN LOUISIANA, Aug. 26.—(AP)—A powerful pincers stretched out by the Fifth army corps invading north Louisiana after a successful mopping up of the gulf coast area threatened today to engulf the Eighth corps defenders before aid arrived along the 50-mile battlefront of Third army maneuvers.

Tanks of the Second armored division of the Fifth corps on the west circled into Texas across the Sabine river near Wiergate, Tex., and doubled back into Louisiana today in an attempt to cut off the rear of the defenders from Mansfield, La.

On the east flank the fighting extended from Kisatchie to Gorum with mechanized cavalry pinching off enemy segments.

Caught in the encircling movement was the city of Shreveport whose possession by the Eighth corps under Major-General H. V. Strong was greatly menaced by the driving and advancing tactics of the Fifth corps under Major-General Edmond L. Daley.

Hornbeck fell to the invading Fifth during continuing night combat and hundreds of Eighth corps prisoners were captured.

Out-numbered two to one, the defenders of north Louisiana were organizing for a determined stand on strategic high ground about Peason ridge to stall off the invaders pending arrival of much needed reinforcements.

The 250,000 troops engaged in these desperate moves of mock warfare came out of their digging-in activities today and took on a war of movement which simulated the most realistic combat of the second phase of the maneuvers.

By dusk yesterday the Fifth invaders had driven northward to points extending between Toro and Hutton.

The 50-mile front in Louisiana reached from north of Toro and Hornbeck to Kisatchie and thence to Gorum.

STRANGE STRIKE IN SAN FRANCISCO ENDS

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 26.—(AP)—Settlement of one of San Francisco's strangest labor disputes, involving 67 closed downtown restaurants brought claims of victory today from both sides.

The end of the 46-day tie-up of some of the city's most famed restaurants came last night with announcement of a five-year master contract covering, in all, 121 eating places.

The dispute started on July 9 when A. F. L. culinary unions walked out of the 67 houses after their employers had reduced wages 25 per cent and extended the work week from a five to a six-day pay basis in an effort to force the unions to negotiate a blanket contract.

Guarantees of no lockouts, strikes or work stoppages were included in the agreement sign by the joint executive board of the A. F. L. Culinary Workers' and Bartenders' union and the San Francisco Employers' council representing the San Francisco Culinary Employers' conference. The closed places will open Thursday.

An employer spokesman said the document accomplished the employers' desire for a master agreement guaranteeing no interruption of work.

A union official said the agreement restored the 25 per cent pay cut and also secured the 40-hour, five-day week, a closed shop and the hiring hall.

ICELANDERS SEEK FOOD FROM U. S.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—(AP)—Two Icelandic bankers and one big businessman begin conferences today with state department officials designed to assure a continuing supply of vital food shipments and raw materials.

Bjorn Olafsson, the business representative on the commission, said that Iceland had plenty of money to spend, and that the island needed plenty of food.

Iceland used to obtain her supply needs in continental Europe or in Britain, but the war cut off those sources, either because of the blockade or prior home demands.

How much Iceland is ready to spend and how much the United States was ready to sell was not revealed in advance of the conferences opening today at the state department. However, the island's imports from all nations for the year ending July 1 approximated $17,000,000.

The commission members hope to conclude a trade agreement of some kind quickly and get back to business in Iceland. They are, besides Olafsson, the banking members, Vilhjalmur Thorn, managing director of the National Bank of Iceland, the chairman, and Asgeir Asgeirsson, managing director of the Fisheries Bank of Iceland.

DISEASE MAY BEAT BULLETS

Health Official Fears New Ravages From Yellow Fever

DENVER, Aug. 26.—(AP)—As an eminently successful killer, war may turn out to be a piker compared with an enemy facing humanity as one of its by-products, says Hugh S. Cumming, former director of the United States public health service.

That enemy is world-sweeping plagues.

"We thought yellow fever had been abolished," Cumming said in an interview yesterday. "It has appeared again, and unless checked, may have a far fling when Indian troops serving in Africa come down from the mountains and out of the jungles and return to their native land."

Cumming declared that, in this war as in the last, more deaths will probably result from disease than from bullets.

Cumming, head of the Pan-American sanitary commission of the League of Nations, in Denver en route to Salt Lake City for a public health conference, said England's continued existence is partly due to its health record.

"Defeat of disease in spite of bombings, hunger, malnutrition and homelessness, is part of the miracle of its defense against evil.

"Our immediate job is to protect our own shores and prepare for any eventuality."

DODGERS, CARDS PLAY CRUCIAL TWIN BILL TODAY

HEAT IS MORE THAN EVER ON REDBIRD NINE

Rain Postpones Monday Game; Southworth Offers Shaky Pitchers

By Judson Bailey
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

With the echoes of Sunday's ding-dong twin bill still ringing in everybody's ears, the St. Louis Cardinals and Brooklyn Dodgers squared off for another double date today with the pressure more obviously than ever on the Redbirds.

The rain which caused yesterday's scheduled single game to be converted into a double header this afternoon left the Cardinals confronted with the herculean task of beating the powerful Dodgers twice in one day or retreating from Brooklyn with their National league pennant chances damaged badly.

Brooklyn has held a game and a half lead over the Cards since last Wednesday. They won together and they lost together.

If the Dodgers divide today's program they will have come out of their crucial four-game series with an even break and their lead untouched. If they win both games they will be three and a half games ahead.

Therefore the only way the Cardinals could do themselves any real good today would be to win two contests and the chances were not too bright.

Manager Billy Southworth nominated Max Lanier, a young southpaw, for the first encounter. Lanier, bothered by elbow trouble, had not made a start since August 12. For the nightcap Southworth groomed Morton Cooper, a capable righthander who nevertheless looked bad and was beaten by the last-place Phillies on his previous turn on the mound.

Even the Cardinal skipper acknowledged he was up against it and intimated he might have to come back with Lefty Ernie White on one day's rest if circumstances made drastic action necessary to avert a rout.

In contrast to this, Brooklyn banked on two veterans, Curt Davis and Fred Fitzsimmons, each of whom had had a week's rest and had been going great. The 40-year-old Fitzsimmons had won five games without a defeat this year and the last time Brooklyn was in St. Louis he beat the Cards with a magnificent relief performance.

The program seemed certain to bring another capacity crowd to Ebbets field unless the weather continued as a drawback. In case rain would keep the tilts from being played today, they would be transferred to St. Louis when the Dodgers make their final western swing after Labor day.

Downpours wrecked yesterday's baseball program completely in the National league and only a part of the junior circuit card survived.

One game played was a night encounter between the Boston Red Sox and Cleveland Indians in which the Red Sox beat Bob Feller 1-0. The great young righthander tangled in an exciting hurling duel with Broadway Charley Wagner. Each gave four hits, four walks and fanned four. But in the seventh two walks and Frank Pytlak's double brought Boston its run.

The Chicago White Sox whipped the New York Yankees, 9-1, on steady nine-hit hurling by Lefty Edgar Smith and a 12-hit offensive.

The St. Louis Browns battled to a 6-3 triumph over the Washington Senators in the first game of a double header and then struggled 10 innings to a 3-3 tie in the nightcap.

ST. LOUIS LEGION NINE BEATS NEW ORLEANS, 6-5

COLUMBIA, S. C., Aug. 26.—(AP)—The St. Louis Legion Juniors pushed across a run in the tenth inning here Monday night and downed New Orleans, 6 to 5, in the second game of the section B tournament.

After leading through the seventh, St. Louis let up in the eighth and New Orleans tied the score at 5-all.

With one away in the tenth, Schloesman singled to left for St. Louis and then stole second. Meyer doubled to left field driving in Schloesman with the winning run.

New Orleans and Augusta, Ga., meet at 4 p. m. Tuesday afternoon, while St. Louis and Berwyn, Ill., will meet at 8:15 p. m.

Light-Hitting Chicago Nine Unleashes Concentrated Attack

CHICAGO, Aug. 26.—(AP)—Chicago's light-hitting White Sox, fighting to keep second place in the American league standings, unleashed a concentrated attack in three innings Monday to whip the league-leading New York Yankees, 9 to 1.

The White Sox bunched all of their dozen hits off Marius Russo and Norman Branch in three scoring innings to make things easy for Lefty Edgar Smith, who coasted along to his 13th victory of the season on a steady nine-hit mound performance.

The Yanks again used reserves in several positions in order to let the regulars take a well-earned rest. Jerry Priddy played first base, Frank Crosetti played third, Ken Silvestri did the catching and Frenchy Bordagaray was in right field.

Luke Appling and Bob Kennedy paced the Chicago attack with three hits that drove in three runs apiece. Appling started things off in the second inning with a triple that followed a base hit by Taft Wright and brought in the first tally. Moose Solters singled Appling home, but Russo got out of that hole by picking Solters off second after Kennedy had singled and then forcing Smith to hit into a double play.

Chicago sewed up the game in the sixth inning when four hits netted three runs.

In the seventh the Sox finally drove Russo to cover and scored their last four runs.

BROWNS DOWN NATS

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 26.—(AP)—Darkness stopped the second St. Louis-Washington came today with the score tied at 3 after 10 innings but the Browns won the first, 6 to 3, to maintain their grip on sixth place.

The Browns tried hard to overcome the Senators' 3-2 advantage in the ninth but succeeded only in tying. As Chet Laabs singled pinch runner Elden Auker home from third after two were out, Johnny Lucadello raced from first to third. The relay of the ball from the outfield was a little wild and speedy Johnny tried to score but was trapped.

Laabs and Walt Judnich hit consecutive home runs for the Browns in the first inning of the first game and Bob Harris scattered 12 hits for his tenth triumph.

Today's tie game will be played off tomorrow, previously an open date.

BUCK LUCE TAKES MEDAL HONORS IN TEXAS JUNIOR

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Aug. 26.—(AP)—Slender Arthur (Buck) Luce of San Antonio made a successful return to state junior golfing wars by capturing medalist honors in the qualifying round of the fifteenth annual kids' tournament Monday.

Luce, who missed last year's tourney after winning the 1935, 1937 and 1938 championships, equalled Brackenridge Park's 71 par to outshoot a field of 151.

Three strokes behind and tied for the runner-up position were Joe Zachariah of Baton Rouge, Louisiana's state junior champion; Herbert Neyland of San Angelo, and Pat Rauschelbach of San Antonio.

Double Main Event Slated On Mat Card Here Tonight

Dragon Meets Venable Minus Mask; Curtis To Engage Jack Moore

Another double main event, third in a row at the Monroe arena, is on tap for Monroe and West Monroe wrestling fans tonight when Jack Curtis, of Vicksburg and a local favorite, meets Tiger Jack Moore, a newcomer, and the Black Dragon, unmasked but unidentified, takes on Billy Venable, of Toledo, Ohio.

The feature of the card, however, should be the appearance of the Dragon without his mask—if he keeps his promise to Promoter Gus Kallio to wrestle tonight minus his headgear in order to atone to some extent for his conduct last week when he tried to escape unmasking proceedings following his defeat by Curtis.

Although the Masked Terror has reputedly agreed to work "in the open," Promoter Kallio said he had been unable to determine whether or not the Dragon planned to reveal his identity.

Billy Venable, the Dragon's foe, is making his second appearance here. Venable first wrestled here a few weeks ago when he won a decision over Oki Shikina, Japanese grappler, after he had won the first fall and the time limit had caught them in the second.

Curtis, who holds the nation's junior light heavyweight belt, is expected to have a troublesome time with Tiger Jack Moore of Little Egypt, Ill. The Curtis-Moore battle should be hard fought and more exciting than the Dragon-Venable battle in which fouls should predominate.

The Mississippian is well known here for his ability, but Moore, still a stranger to local fans, comes highly recommended and is expected to match Curtis trick for trick.

Both matches will have hour and 15-minute time limits, two falls to win. Aldin "Butch" Martin will be the referee.

Promoter Kallio also announced that the usual admission prices would prevail except for soldiers in uniform who would be admitted for 20 cents, less than half the general admission price.

SOUTHERN

PELS EDGE CRAX

ATLANTA, Aug. 26.—(AP)—The Atlanta Crackers, whose lead over the rest of the Southern association appears to have made them allergic to winning, lost another Monday night, this time to the New Orleans Pelicans, 7 to 6.

For four innings the Crackers held the Pels scoreless while chalking up five runs. In the fifth, however, the New Orleans club came to life and chalked up seven runs.

DODGER, CARDINAL BATTLES DELAYED

BROOKLYN, Aug. 26.—(AP)—The familiar refrain "rain today—two games tomorrow" interrupted the bitter pennant fight of the Brooklyn Dodgers and St. Louis Cardinals Monday.

It cost the Brooklyn Dodgers some money—how much is hard to guess. At 11 o'clock Monday morning, four hours before game time, there were 5,000 fans in a big, uneven line around three sides of Ebbets field, jostling and joshing in the rain. They stayed there in spite of the elements until Larry MacPhail, president of the Dodgers, finally called off the game. And even at 3 o'clock, ordinarily game time, several hundred still were huddled in the entrances underneath the stands.

This seemed to indicate that the double header Tuesday, second between the clubs in three days, would be a sellout for the 34,000 capacity ball park, but it might have been even for a single game.

Manager Bill Southworth said Lefty Max Lanier and Mort Cooper, a capable, experienced righthander, would be his starting pitchers with Lanier slated for the opening contest.

Lanier has won seven and lost six while Cooper's record is 11 and 5.

Manager Leo Durocher of the Dodgers named Curt Davis, a former Cardinal, and the veteran Fred Fitzsimmons to take the mound for the final games.

EVANGELINE PLAYOFF PLANS ARE COMPLETE

LAFAYETTE, La., Aug. 26.—(AP)—Final plans were completed here Monday for the Shaughnessy playoff in the Evangeline league at a full meeting of the board of directors.

Thursday, September 4, was set as the opening date in the semi-finals of the playoff with the first team in the league meeting the fourth place team and the second place team will open at home and in case of tie or rainout, the club will remain at the town in which the tie or rainout occurred.

The schedule agreed on was as follows:

Second and third place teams to play two, three and one games with the location of seventh decided by the toss of a coin. New Iberia and Lake Charles will play a two, three and one series and toss and New Iberia, Opelousas or Lafayette, depending on the final standing outcome, will play one game stands at home with the final game being decided by coin toss. The reason for this procedure it was stated was because the three teams are near enough for one game stands.

MONROE EDGES GREENVILLE IN OPENING GAME

Rally In Eighth Inning Gives Locals 3-2 Win In Tilt Here

Before an "Automobile Night" crowd of approximately five thousand fans, the Monroe White Sox nosed out the Greenville Buckshots, 3 to 2, with an eighth inning rally that gave the locals the first of a four-game series here.

The battle was hard fought all the way and was practically a pitchers' duel all the way between Verne "Little Willie" Williamson, Monroe's fireball righthander, and Ed Wright, big Greenville flinger. Williamson allowed only six hits, his only free pass to first was an intentional base on balls, and he fanned eight. Wright pitched four-hit ball for seven innings but was reached for three in the eighth as the Sox sewed up the game in that frame. He struck out three and walked three.

Greenville held a 2 to 1 lead when the Sox came to bat in the eighth to win on three hits and an error. The lone Buckshot error put the tying run across and a single by Jimmy Keith knocked home Joe Eagar with the winning run.

The Sox got runners on base in all but one inning, but they had only two left stranded as three double plays picked them off bases or the Sox were nabbed stealing bases.

The big crowd en route to the game caused such a congestion of traffic that the battle had to be delayed almost 30 minutes as Umpires DeHaney and St. Charles were tied up in the traffic knot and unable to reach the park on time. The game was finally called, however, with Pitcher Tom Perry, Monroe, and Pitcher Stan Todd, Greenville, handling the umpiring until the regular officials arrived.

It was the largest crowd of the season at Casino park and was drawn by Monroe and West Monroe merchants who had an automobile to award some fan. The machine was given to David King, Auburn avenue, Monroe.

The Sox scored first in the second inning after two were out when Guy "Red" Pruitt, one of the Cotton States' leading hitters, beat out an infield hit, went to second on a passed ball and scored on Pete Medak's single into left field.

Then the Bucks, after being shut out for five innings on two hits, broke through to tie the score in the sixth when Dick Jones doubled into right field and came home on Roy Bueschen's double.

Greenville went out in front with another tally in the eighth. Wright led off with a single but was forced at second by Kent Massengale. Dick Jones grounded to Keith who threw to Eagar, covering second, but Massengale was called safe on a mighty close play and Jones reached first. Don Prather doubled into right field, scoring Messengale and pitting Jones on third. Bueschen was intentionally passed, loading the bases with only

DOUBLE HEADER TONIGHT

In order to make up for a postponed game the Monroe White Sox and the Greenville Buckshots will clash in a double header at Casino park tonight, and local club officials declared it would be "Kids' Night" again, all children to be admitted free. Game time for the first battle was announced as 7 o'clock.

Tom Perry, stellar portsider, and Ray Hoffman, veteran righthander, are slated to hurl for the Sox tonight, according to Manager Doug Taitt. Skipper Dave Coble of the Bucks plans to use Stan Todd, the league's leading flinger, in one of the games. Greenville's moundsman for the other tilt was not decided.

Club officials also announced that the series final with the Bucks tomorrow night would be free to the fairer sex, "Ladies' Night" being declared for that occasion, and then there will be no more games here until September 4 when the Vicksburg Bills come here for the season's final. An "Appreciation Night" for Skipper Taitt is being arranged for the last regularly scheduled game.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By Hugh S. Fullerton, Jr.
(Pinch-Hitting for Eddie Brietz)

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—(AP)—That rain yesterday cost the Brooks about $25,000. . . . Even if they have a sellout today they can't pack enough folks into Ebbets field to make up for the ones who wanted to see yesterday's game. . . . Anyway, it gave the umps a chance to get their nerves calmed down after Sunday. . . . The players knew they wouldn't get the heave-ho from such an important series for anything less than crossing Bill Klem's line and they hollered all afternoon. . . . Did you notice that the new date for the Louis-Nova fight is just before the World Series is due to start? . . . If the Yanks and Brooks are in it, all the fighters will collect is what the ball clubs have to turn back because there's no more room. . . . Bob Feller is trying to add a slider to his pitching repertoire, which leads a lot of baseball men to wonder why the guy with the best fast ball in the majors ever bothers with anything else. . . . If Del Baker goes out, Detroit may bring Al Vincent up from Buffalo, where he's been doing a bang-up job of developing young players. . . . Al never played big league ball, but neither did a gent named Joe McCarthy, who's made out all right as a manager.

TRUE TALES

Ed Danforth of the Atlanta Journal reveals that it was Jack Meagher, the Auburn coach, who introduced Clark Shaughnessy to the "T" formation. . . . It was back when Meagher was coaching St. Edwards of Texas and Shaughnessy was at Loyola in New Orleans. And Clark had to wait until last year before he got the material to make use of the idea. . . . The Amarillo (Tex.) Gold Sox took 16-year-old "Peanuts" Thurman off his job of selling 'em in the stands the other night and let him pitch against Wichita Falls. . . . The kid won, too. . . . A Boston football coach has just discovered why one of his linemen hadn't been following orders hollered from the bench for the last two seasons. . . . The draft board doctor told the player he was deaf in one ear. . . . Fritz Howell, the AP's shootin' iron expert, had quite a shock during the Grand American trapshoot when he woke up early one morning to find Jimmy Robinson, a fellow writer from Minneapolis, crawling around the room grabbing at some imaginary object. . . . It seems Jimmy was dreaming he was hunting ducks and was chasing a wounded one that got away.

TODAY'S GUEST STAR

Jimmy Menzies, Tulsa Tribune: "When Coach Jim Lookabaugh calls his Oklahoma Aggie gridders for practice, the first thing he'll probably do is run over the alphabet with the squad. Of the Aggie foes, Skip Palrang of Creighton has announced he'll use the 'T' formation, Dewey Luster of O. U. is going to cut loose with the 'A' formation and Henry Frnka of Tulsa plans a few capers with his own 'QT' system."

HIGH FLIERS

Harold Hillman, son of the Dartmouth track coach and one of America's best skiers, has joined the army air corps. So has Reidar Gjolme, Jr., who was intercollegiate downhill ski champion. . . . Now if they'll only teach the other flying cadets some of those ski-jumping tricks it should take a lot of pressure off the airplane factories. . . . Morley Jennings, who resigned as Baylor coach to take the athletic director's job at Texas Tech, will wind up his active coaching career in the Oil Bowl game at Wichita Falls on Labor day. . . . New England sandlotters want to move the national semi-pro baseball congress tournament from Wichita, Kans., to the Yankee stadium. . . . First real moan of the football season came from Howard Grubbs, T. C. U. athletic director, who could be heard all the way to New York when he saw the prices he'll have to pay for the boys' meals when they come east to play Fordham.

THUMB FUN, EH?

Chet Gladchuk, six-foot, five-inch, 250-pound all-America center who'll join the football Giants when he finishes his all-star chores, comes from Bridgeport, Conn., where he lives on Tom Thumb street.

DARK HORSES SET PACE IN AMATEUR PLAY

Pair Of Golfers Who Were Overlooked Leading Qualifiers

By Bill Boni

OMAHA, Aug. 26.—(AP)—A pair of overlooked long shots whose past performances have stopped just short of gaining them real national recognition took full charge Monday in the first 18-hole qualifying round of the United States Golf association's 45th amateur championship.

Stewart M. (Skip) Alexander, a golfer of considerable repute in his native North Carolina, set a competitive course record for the revamped Omaha field club with a five-under-par 67 that paced the 145 contenders for the title won last year by Dick Chapman. On his heels with a 68 came red-headed Johnny Burke, now playing out of Chicago after an eastern career that included victory in the 1938 intercollegiates.

Alexander is 23, Burke 24. Both are fine iron players, and it was iron play that sent them ahead of such stars as Chapman, Bud Ward, Ray Billows, the Field club's own Johnny Goodman and Texas Harry Todd by margins from five to nine strokes.

Even the next three places went to players who hadn't been rated too highly in the advance calculations.

Otto Greiner, fresh out of the University of Baltimore; Ellsworth Vines, the lanky Californian who has switched from championship tennis to golf, and Ted Bishop of Boston, New England champion were deadlocked at 72, even par.

Ward was low scorer among the dope sheet "hot shots" with a 73, which bracketed him with Goodman and Glenn Oatman, who used to coach the University of Kansas golf team when he still was a student there. At 74 came Chapman and one of his playing partners, Brazilan Mario Gonzales; Bob Cochran of St. Louis, Edwin McClure of Shreveport, La., and Rodney Bliss, another Omaha hopeful.

Ward, who won the title at North Shore in 1939, and Goodman, winner at Portland, Ore., in 1937, were low among the former champions in the field, followed by Chapman, Johnny Fischer of Cincinnati, who won in 1936 and had 78 today, and Chick Evans, the veteran Chicagoan who won in 1916 and 1920 but practically lost all chances of getting one of the 64 match-play places by posting an 81.

Alexander started with a birdie on the first hole, and never slacked off on the pressure. What's more, only one of his birdie putts was more than ten feet, and that was a 20-footer on the third. For the rest, his iron shots put him within four feet of the flag on the first, less than a foot on the fourth, five feet for a deuce on the eighth, 10 feet on the 13th and eight feet on the 15th.

Burke had finished hours ahead of him, and when "Skip" overshot the green on the 18th it appeared he'd get no better than a tie for the lead. But he chipped back three feet from the hole and sank the putt for his one-shot margin.

Each man went over par once the whole way around—Alexander on the tenth hole, where he caught the rough with drive and second shot, and Burke on the 14th, a tough, 450-yard par four, where he mishit an iron shot.

Edwin McClure matched par on the back nine for a 74. He had 38-36—74.

DODGER CLUB TAKES BABE PHELPS OFF ACTIVE LIST

BROOKLYN, Aug. 26.—(AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers announced Monday night that Commissioner Kenesaw M. Landis had given them permission to remove the name of Catcher Gordon (Babe) Phelps from their active list.

In making the announcement Secretary John McDonald of the Dodgers said Landis had not yet placed Phelps on baseball's ineligible list, equivalent to indefinite suspension, but had telegraphed Phelps for particulars in his case.

Phelps complained of illness and refused to accompany the Dodgers west on June 12. He was suspended by President Larry MacPhail, but under baseball law a club suspension may last only ten days and he was reinstated at the end of that period.

WAR WEAKENS TENNIS FIELD

No Foreign Threat To Speak Of In National Play; Hunt Held Out

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—(AP)—The war in general and navy's football aspirations in particular have conspired to weaken the field in the Men's National Tennis championships this year to a new low, at least for the modern era.

There will be no foreign threat to speak of when the skimpy field of 64 begins play Saturday at Forest Hills, because of the European conflagration, and the domestic list bears only slight resemblance to the days when Don Budge, Ellsworth Vines, Bill Tilden and the others were tearing up the turf.

The navy's partial responsibility for the situation rests in the fact that Midshipman Joe Hunt looks like he might make a great halfback on the Middy eleven this fall, and so there is a natural desire in Annapolis football circles that he not risk his valuable legs and ankles chasing around a tennis court.

So Hunt, who went to the semifinals of last year's championships before bowing to Bobby Riggs in five sets, and who recently swept through the intercollegiate title meet without losing a set, will not be among those present. Incidentally, one of Hunt's victims last year was Frank Kovacs, who is seeded second to Riggs in the coming meet.

Don McNeill, who won the title last year and then had an unaccountable falling-off in form this summer, is seeded third, with Ted Schroeder fourth, Frankie Parker fifth, Wayne Sabin sixth, John Kramer seventh, and Gardnar Mulloy eighth and last. Those who have watched the recent grass court tournaments rate Riggs and Kovacs about equal favorites.

Heading the seeded list of 62 women is Pauline Betz of Los Angeles, whose rise has been more or less sensational since she was eliminated in the quarter-finals last year. Alice Marble, who was head and shoulders over the field for several seasons, has, of course, turned professional, and the only former champion in the field is Helen Jacobs.

Ladislav Hecht, former Czech Davis cupper, heads what is left of the once powerful foreign list among the men. Jacques Brugnon, once of France's famous "Four Musketeers," has entered the veterans tournament.

one out. But Bill Kramer popped out to Keith and Lou Bekeza fanned to end the Bucks biggest threat.

Medak then opened the eighth for the Sox with a double against the fence near the scoreboard in left center. Ernie Potocar bunted safely, sending Medak to third. Williamson grounded to Pete Maloney who threw Medak out at the plate. Eagar grounded to Prather who threw Williamson out at second, but Maloney, trying to make it a double play, threw wild to first, allowing Potocar to score and sending Eagar to second. Keith's single scored Eagar.

The Bucks went down in order in their half of the ninth.

BOSOX DOWN TRIBE

CLEVELAND, Aug. 26.—(AP)—Boston's Red Sox moved within a half game of third-place Cleveland Monday night by beating the Indians, 1 to 0, on Charley Wagner's four-hit pitching. Bob Feller also allowed four blows in losing his 11th game against 21 victories. Two walks and Frankie Pytlak's double gave Boston its run in the seventh.

Cleveland threatened in the fourth as Jeff Heath led off with a double and advanced on a sacrifice. However, he was doubled at the plate on Ken Keltner's short popper to Lamar Newsome. Wagner issued two passes in the seventh but tightened to get Beau Bell and Pinch-Hitter Harry Rosenthal.

Ted Williams walked to open the seventh, advanced as Newsome also walked and scampered home on Pytlak's two-base smash.

It was the final night game of the year here and drew 12,483 fans.

NAVY RECRUITING ADS HAVE DRAWING POWER

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—(AP)—The navy's newspaper recruiting ads were so successful that Editor Chester F. Weems of the Worthington (Ind.) Times almost had to suspend publication.

Weems complained that Dale Warren Loffland, the Times' printer, read the ads and enlisted.

Responding to pleas from the dismayed editor, who couldn't find a replacement, the navy granted Loffland a temporary deferment.

GUS LESNEVICH TO MEET MAURIELLO

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—(AP)—The light heavyweight championship picture, in somewhat of a muddle ever since Billy Conn relinquished the crown for a shot at Joe Louis, will be cleared up Tuesday night when Gus Lesnevich of Cliffside, N. J., tangles with Tami Mauriello of New York at Madison Square Garden.

Lesnevich already has some claim to the title since he defeated Anton Christoforidis at the Garden last May to gain recognition of the National Boxing association as the 175-pound king. Tuesday night's bout has the sanction of not only the N. B. A. but also the New York State Athletic commission.

Whatever the outcome, some 12,000 fans are expected to see a real slugfest. Mauriello has put 22 of his opponents to sleep in winning 32 of his 33 fights, most of them as a middleweight. The only fight the Bronx boy has lost was a close decision to Billy Soose, the middleweight king. This is somewhat better than the knockout record of Lesnevich, who has 16 to his credit in 63 fights during his seven-year professional career.

▶ When Labor Day rolls around, bad-driving days aren't far away. Get set for the holiday, and for many months to come, by turning those old, worn tires in on Silvertowns... the tires that give you extra miles.

You'll do yourself a favor. And you'll help your country, too. It takes almost as much rubber to build a tire that wears out in a few thousand miles as it does to build a Silvertown, made with Duramin. When you buy a quality tire, you actually help conserve rubber.

Prices are still low. Trade-in allowances are still high. But no one in America can see very far ahead these days. It's wise to buy now, and to buy tires that will last a long, long time—Silvertowns.

SAFETY SILVERTOWN
Duramin gives it longer wear, and top quality Hi-Flex cords make this tire much stronger than ever before.

DELUXE SILVERTOWN
Made throughout with Duramin. Gives the best combination of extra mileage, safety, comfort, and quiet running.

LIFE-SAVER SILVERTOWN
No tire can stop you quicker, or keep you safer from skids. 20% more miles than the original Life-Saver tire.

ALUMINUM FIRM DELAY FLAYED

OPM Also Criticized For Slowness In Erecting Northwest Plant

SEATTLE, Aug. 26.—(AP)—Sharp criticism of the OPM and the Aluminum Company of America for delay in building new northwest plants has been voiced by members of the Senate defense industry investigation committee.

Senator Harry S. Truman, Democrat, Missouri, committee chairman at the two-day hearing here, declared the OPM general counsel, John Lord O'Brian, had evaded a request by the committee for examination of the OPM files on aluminum production.

Truman said he telegraphed O'Brian last night demanding that he wire "immediately yes or no whether OPM is refusing committee investigators access to files."

He said effective steps would be taken to obtain them if necessary.

Stressing the importance of increased aluminum production, Senator Truman asserted at the hearing after complaints by witnesses against the OPM and aluminum company:

"It looks to the chairman, from the testimony heard today, that Alcoa (the aluminum company) is more interested in remaining a monopoly than in saving the country's national defense program."

Senator James M. Mead, Democrat, New York, declared:

"In the absence of rebuttal arguments, it appears that the OPM is entirely at fault and responsible for the delay in the aluminum program here in this area. My opinion is based on OPM testimony before this committee, on the testimony of representatives of Alcoa and on that of competitive producers."

The sharpest attack on the OPM came from Frank Eichelberger, president of the Kalunite company, which claims a new process for extracting aluminum from alunite, which is found abundantly in Washington.

He charged that he had suffered long waits and delays before the OPM.

"You have an idea a few Alcoa men are getting $1 a year from the government with the OPM?" asked Senator Mon Wallgren, Democrat, Washington.

"That's a great understatement," Eichelberger responded.

He said "definitely" in reply to a query as to whether he felt they were trying to "harass you and put you out of business."

AMERICAN NEWSPAPERMEN MAY GO TO ICELAND NOW

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—(AP)—President Roosevelt lifted restrictions Monday which had prevented American newspapermen, photographers and radio representatives from going to Iceland.

Stephen Early, presidential secretary, announced that the American and British commanders had reached an agreement under which news, picture and radio men may carry out assignments in the North Atlantic island and that the chief executive approved it.

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 26.—(AP)—Spot cotton closed steady 31 points higher. Sales 1,817. Low middling 15.05, middling 16.35, good middling 16.80, receipts 3,554, stock 417,238.

New York

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—(AP)—Cotton futures found added stimulus in reports of extensive insect damage to crops, bounding up to a maximum level of $1.70 a bale over the previous close. Southern selling and profit taking brought a minor reaction but buyers, undeterred yesterday when the president vetoed the Smith freezing bill, continued optimistic.

Later afternoon prices were 29 to 32 points, or $1.45 to $1.60 a bale higher, Oct. 16.65; Dec. 16.83 and Mch. 17.01.

Cotton futures closed at the best levels of the day as traders found contracts scarce and outside interests entered the market.

Futures closed 36-42 higher.

NEW YORK STOCKS

By Victor Eubank

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—(AP)—The stock market trained its sights on recovery today and, while scoring few bulleseyes, managed to spray the target with a fair amount of success.

Rails and industrials were out in front at the start with gains of fractions to a point or so. Activity and quotations were the best in the forenoon. The pace slowed after mid-day and many leaders closed under the day's tops.

Transfers of around 500,000 shares were the largest in about three weeks.

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—(AP)—The stock market today sat up and took a little more interest in recovery.

The list shook off its apathy after a hesitant opening and activity for a while was about double that of Monday's sluggish performance. While dealings slowed later, gains ranged from fractions to a point or so near the fourth hour.

Brokerage quarters credited the better-looking trend picture mainly to the belief of technicians that the substantial drying up of offerings in recent sessions indicated a more or less sold-out condition and might be a tip-off on a possible fair-sized upswing. Business items were helpful in spots and war news was undisturbing.

Cotton futures turned strong and other commodities steadied. Bonds exhibited individual popularity.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Aug. 26.—(AP)—Grain futures prices closed strong today after fluctuating aimlessly most of the session as traders awaited further developments in Washington. Wheat opened firm with cotton and at times extended the advance to around a cent a bushel. Later when eastern demand dried up and some hedge selling appeared, the market backed down, but a rally at the close lifted prices to almost the best levels of the day.

Wheat finished 5-8 to 7-8 cents above the previous close, Sept. $1.12 3-4 to 7-8; Dec. $1.16 5-8 to 1-2; corn was 1-8 off to 1-8 up and oats 3-8 to 1-2 higher.

BOLL WEEVILS BAD THIS YEAR

Infestation In Cotton Area Reported Heaviest In Decade

ATLANTA, Aug. 26. — (AP) — Boll weevils are chewing up millions of dollars of southern cotton this year with agricultural leaders describing the infestation as the heaviest in a decade.

State Entomologist J. A. Giradeau said from 40 to 50 per cent of Georgia's crop had been destroyed. The normal loss to weevils in Georgia ranges from five to 20 per cent.

Damage in virtually every section of Alabama was reported by the state extension service but estimates are not yet available.

Arkansas' loss to weevils is expected to amount to a third or a half of the crop, but this was offset to some extent by prospects for an excellent crop. Boll worms were reported as a more serious pest.

In Louisiana, the state university extension department said conditions were the worst since 1921-22 and that weevils were covering a greater area than ever before.

Texas growers said their loss to the weevil was more than in recent years. Infestation was reported most severe in south-central, southeast and eastern portions of the state.

Oklahoma planters experienced trouble in fighting the pests because of a lack of dust guns. Louisiana officials were worried about diminishing supplies of poison with replacement of depleted stocks almost impossible.

Tennessee farmers were bothered with weevils only in some sections of the state where the colder winter climate holds down hibernation.

A 100 per cent infestation was reported in some parts of northern Mississippi.

Agriculture Commissioner Tom Linder of Georgia urged farmers to withhold their cotton from the market and wait for congress to adopt legislation guaranteeing a higher price. The present price is slightly more than 16 cents a pound.

From a cotton consumer standpoint, Brigadier-General James L. Frink, Fourth Corps area quartermaster, told the Atlanta Rotary club yesterday that staple used by the Quartermaster Corps in 1940-41 was valued at $40,000,000.

MOVIE VACATIONS

Most Monroyans are desperately busy these days. Many haven't time for long vacations; some are waiting for them. But thousands upon thousands have discovered the restful relaxation of frequent, short "vacations" at the movies.

A movie vacation will rest you in body—and more important still—in mind. You'll come out of your favorite theater with a completely changed point of view. Work and problems that seemed difficult will become much easier. All because, for a cost reckoned only in pennies, you've seen interesting places, watched different people, heard interesting talk.

GENERAL FISH 60 YEARS OLD

Regimental Band Softly Toots 'Happy Birthday To You'

By Norman Walker

WITH THE ARMY IN LOUISIANA. Aug. 26.—(AP)—A regimental band softly tooted "Happy Birthday to You" before dawn but that ended the birthday celebration for one of the army's fighting generals out on the firing line.

It was just another day's job for the 32nd division commander, Major-General Irving A. Fish of Milwaukee, even though it marked his 60th birthday.

Staff officers wouldn't permit any real birthday concert for General Fish beyond the one quietly-played number but compensated by presenting their chief with a box of peanut brittle. From then on, with breakfast at 4:30 a.m., the general's birthday included a round of visits to the danger zone, inspecting terrain, directing operations, exhorting officers and troops from Wisconsin and Michigan to victory.

General Fish lunched from a messkit in the field and met in rendezvous with brigade commanders at dusk, outlining future offensives.

Front line leadership of Third army officers led some into enemy hands, but so far General Fish has evaded capture. Those reported captured by enemy troops included Major-General Daniel I. Sultan, commanding the 38th division from Illinois, Indiana and Kentucky, and Captain Henry Cabot Lodge, United States senator from Massachusetts, serving with the Second Armored division. Both succeeded in escaping later.

FARMER ADMITS STRANGLING WIFE

MAGNOLIA, Miss., Aug. 26.—(AP)—Sheriff Alton Davis said Luther Lee Cooper, Pike county farmer, late yesterday confessed to the slaying last August 9 of his wife, Annette Dunnaway Cooper, whose strangled body was found in a cornfield adjoining their home near McComb.

Davis said Cooper's confession asserted he strangled his wife after she tried to poison him with a creosote solution and then confronted him with an ice prong. Realizing she was dead, Cooper said he then dragged her body to the nearby cornfield, according to the sheriff.

District Attorney C. E. Barlow said murder charges had been filed against Cooper, who is being held in an unannounced jail for grand jury action in October.

The War Today

By DeWitt MacKenzie
(Associated Press Foreign Affairs Writer)

The Anglo-Russian allies will have achieved a master stroke of strategy when they complete their occupation of Iran (Persia).

Persia is the key position for the entire middle eastern situation—a pivot upon which vast power can be turned in any direction with equal facility.

This allied operation will in effect establish a new front against Hitler, and it will be surprising if it doesn't swing into action before long. One of his chief aims in his drive through the Russian Ukraine has been to seize this Persian prize for himself, and the Nazis have boasted that they would be on the Caucasian frontier by winter. Now if they do reach that objective they undoubtedly will find a powerful Anglo-Russian army thrown across the route into this land of vast promise.

The Nazi chief's purpose in heading for Persia has been two-fold. He has coveted it not only because of its strategic position, which would permit him to strike eastward at India and westward at Egypt and the Suez Canal, but because he sorely needs the oil from the Persian fields. He also wanted access to the Persian Gulf and the open seas.

Now the Anglo-Russian coup has in effect moved the British blockade right up against the Soviet border. Thus this great steel garrote, which has been slowly strangling the continent of Europe, has been measurably tightened.

The allied occupation of Persia vastly increases the difficulties of neutral Turkey. Indeed, she will be extremely lucky if she isn't forced into the war before long—quite possibly by direct Nazi attack.

The indications have been that the only things which prevented Hitler from taking a short cut long ago into the near and middle east through Turkey were the forest of two million bayonets along the frontier, and the decided danger that Russia—then at peace with Germany—might intervene on the side of the Turks. However, the picture has changed decidedly, with the Nazis warring on Russia and making progress through the very Red territory from which Soviet aid would have to come to the Turks.

If and when Hitler succeeds in overrunning the Ukraine, or in any event when winter has laid a restraining hand on military operations in the Soviet, it's not unlikely that he will strike at Turkey. That is, he may attack unless the Turks finally agree to his demands for passage of his troops and equipment across their country.

The Turks presumably will be governed by circumstances. They have a defensive alliance with the British and a pact of friendship with the Germans. The late Kemal Ataturk, creator of the new Turkey, laid down the policy of standing with Britain in event of war. The trend of affairs would make it appear that this remains the desire of his successors, and is likely to dominate their actions unless the Nazis are able to present an overwhelming threat to the life of the nation.

Report has it that the Persians have been suspicious of Russia's intentions. The Muscovites' desire for such access to the warm seas as might be provided by the Persian Gulf has raised a doubt in Persian minds whether the Reds would withdraw from the country once they got an army of occupation installed. However, both Russia and Britain have announced that they have no territorial designs in Persia, and even if the Bolshevists should change their minds, the British certainly wouldn't stand for Soviet domination of a country of such strategic importance.

In the light of this sensational allied move it will be clear that Britain's General Wavell was not demoted—as many believed—when he was transferred to India not long ago from his command in Egypt. This column at that time pointed to the probability that the British envisaged important operations for which Wavell's capabilities were especially suited. Now we have it.

General Wavell has under his command more than half a million well-equipped Indian troops, and reportedly will have another half-million available this fall. Such an army not only will provide strong defense but might permit offensive operations in collaboration with the Russians.

COTTON FREEZING BILL CALLED DEAD

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26. — (AP) — House members predicted today that no attempt would be made to override President Roosevelt's sharply-worded veto of legislation to freeze government loan stocks of wheat and cotton and to relax penalties for producing above-quota wheat.

"That bill is as dead as anything can be and I don't think anyone will be foolish enough to ask for a vote," Representative Cochran, Democrat, Missouri, said.

"There's not a chance for the legislation now," Representative Michener, Republican, Michigan, acting minority leader observed.

Both based their opinions on the fact that the bill passed the house by a close vote of 176 to 162 and, barring wholesale reversals, the members could not be expected to roll up the two-thirds majority required to override presidential vetoes.

Cochran expressed the opinion that yesterday's veto might be overridden in the senate but the house gets the first chance at it, because it was a house bill which the president refused to sign.

The senatorial farm group wrote into the bill provisions to prohibit the Commodity Credit corporation from disposing of any of its huge piles of cotton and wheat held under recent farmer-loan programs as a safeguard against creating a market-depressing influence.

The president's message called the bill "contrary to sound governmental policy and the long-time best interests of both farmers and consumers."

SAYS JAPAN WANTS PEACE WITH U. S.

TOKYO, Aug. 26.—(AP)—Japan would welcome negotiations with the United States to ease tension in the far east "if we can come to a resonable conclusion," Koh Ishii, Japanese cabinet information bureau spokesman, said today.

Ishii, who made this statement in response to questions at a press conference, said, however, he had no information that any such negotiations were under way.

Asked about the purpose of recent talks between Japanese Ambassador Kichisaburo Nomura and Secretary of State Hull in Washington, the spokesman merely replied:

"I am not informed."

Commenting on the British-Russian invasion of Iran, Ishii said:

"The peace-loving American nations must have been shocked by this unprovoked act."

Japan, he said, was shocked also.

ORSON WELLES TO BECOME MAGICIAN

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 26.—(AP)—Orson Welles, who has done just about everything else in the field of entertainment, will make his debut as a magician September 3.

The scene will be the California State fair at Sacramento, where he will be guest star one night.

Welles has been preparing his repertoire for months but his interest in magic dates to his childhood. At 10 he was so adept he ran away from home to earn his living by sleight of hand.

Welles isn't quitting Hollywood, though. He'll return to begin production of "The Magnificent Ambersons" September 16.

SIGNAL METHOD ESSENTIAL FOR DIVE BOMBERS

Communications Must Be Dependable For Successful Cooperation

WITH THE ARMY IN ARKANSAS, Aug. 26.—(AP)—Success of the army's new technique of teaming dive bombers with attacking ground forces depends on the development of dependable communications, two high ranking generals of the second army declared today.

This method of blasting enemy concentrations and breaking up hostile assaults was employed in maneuvers for the first time by the American army during the opening week of the Arkansas war games.

The need for better ground-to-plane contact was voiced by air-minded Major-General Robert C. Richardson, Jr., Seventh army commander, and Major-General William N. Haskell, 27th division (New York) commander.

"This use of dive bombers is by far the most important development of the current war games," General Richardson said. "But its whole success depends on an accurate means of guiding airmen to their targets."

Three methods are being tried this week by Seventh army corps troops in their operation with the Eighth Bombardment squadron, which is flying daily from Shreveport, La., to practice this new strategy.

The most important experiments are centered on increasing radio reception during battle without use of code. Frequent loss of contact, apparently because of atmospheric conditions and necessity for constant tuning, makes this uncertain.

The second method has been to lay white cloth panels on the ground in the form of an arrow. Laying two such arrows, it is hoped, will adequately point out the enemy to airmen, handicapped in their observation of troop movements by well camouflaged positions.

Smoke bombs are being used as a third method. Shot from a mortar, they may be thrown directly to the target, the smoke serving as a guide to airmen.

General Haskell said methods of communications should be improved also to aid observation planes in relaying their information to the ground.

"The planes we have now are too fast," he declared. "I think we should have observation planes that can land in almost any place rather than having to go to airports several miles away from the hedquarters of the troops with which they work. Unless there is telephone communication you can't contact the plane except by radio."

13,398 MILES ON 5-QUART FILL OF OIL in the Certified DEATH VALLEY DESTRUCTION TEST

Revolutionary New Oil tested against 5 other big brands.
6 new cars Destroyed to prove Economy and Protection.

The oil that reeled off an amazing 13,398 miles on one regular fill, in blazing Death Valley, was proved to be an oil of the Nth degree—an oil of new high character...Hence its name:

CONOCO Nth MOTOR OIL

This dramatic test, supervised impartially and Officially Certified, was simple, yet harsh. 6 identical new cars were taken to Death Valley—where the heat hits record highs. 5 of these cars were each assigned a different widely-known, highly advertised motor oil. The sixth car used new Conoco Nth motor oil.

Each car was broken-in on a brand assigned by lot. Then, one 5-quart fill of this same oil went into the crankcase—kept under lock. The cars were driven 57 miles an hour until oil failure cracked up each engine—utterly wrecked it! All of this under impartial official scrutiny, as was every step in the test, right on through the dramatic finish.

Here is what happened

New Conoco Nth oil went 13,398.8 miles. Not another oil came within 5,683 miles of this. One outstanding oil failed 8,268.6 miles sooner than new Conoco Nth motor oil. So it outdistanced the five competing oils by 74% to 161%.

Why this Astounding result was possible

New Conoco Nth motor oil contains a Conoco-originated synthetic (U. S. Patent 2,218,132) called Thialkene inhibitor. An inhibitor in motor oil acts pretty much as an inhibition acts on you. Inhibitions hold you back; police many actions. And so Conoco's Thialkene inhibitor polices Conoco Nth oil . . . arrests pollution that otherwise comes from normal operation. And that's your aid against a dirty engine with inferior lubrication.

Are you an OIL-PLATING "fan"?

If you are, more power to you! Don't for a minute feel let down, for Conoco Nth also contains the famous synthetic that OIL-PLATES engines. OIL-PLATING comes from the magnet-like attraction that keeps it bonded to inner engine parts, so that it can't all quickly drain down to the crankcase—not while you're using Conoco Nth oil. This same famed OIL-PLATING is still yours to guard against wear.

Because of OIL-PLATING and Thialkene inhibitor, one 5-quart fill of new Conoco Nth oil went an astounding 13,398.8 miles. Of course, you'll never Death-Test your Conoco Nth oil in sinister Death Valley, nor repeat any other proving-ground tortures. You'll still drain and refill at the intervals recommended by qualified authorities. But how you'll expect to stretch the distance before you ever add a quart, judging by this big fact:

5 heavily advertised oils in the Certified Death Valley Test were outmileaged 74% to 161% by Conoco Nth oil. Economy like that counts up into dollars! Change to Nth oil today at Your Mileage Merchant's Conoco station. Continental Oil Co.—Pioneers in Bettering America's oil with Synthetics

CERTIFIED I hereby certify that the Death Valley Test and related work were thoroughly and fairly conducted. Engine Destruction occurred in each case at the mileage stated.
